Faiths on Display Tim Oakes, Donald S. Sutton, 2010-10-16 By providing a unique perspective on China's changing relationship with religion this groundbreaking book explores the role the Chinese state continues to play in religious revival today Over the past several decades China has experienced a rapid expansion of religious spaces and activities More recently a growing middle class urban society has fueled an upsurge in Chinese domestic tourism Faiths on Display challenges the common separation of religious and tourist activities showing how these practices overlap and blend together A group of leading scholars explores the unlikely interaction between these exuberant phenomena finding a surprisingly clear lens through which to view a rapidly transforming society Even the most casual observer is struck by the Chinese rediscovery of traditional culture particularly at revived religious festivals and pilgrimages in suburbs rural areas and at China's margins where religious practices of ethnic minorities attract particular tourist attention A set of fascinating case studies shows how state organizations are helping revive sacred spaces as exploitable sites for tourism development and revenue generation While this may appear to be a straightforward collision of Chinese tradition with modernization the contributors argue that the results of combining religion and tourism offer important insights not only into the practice of religion and the rise of leisure culture in contemporary China but also into the changing and contested nature of state governance The policies of an authoritarian modernizing state obviously influence both religion and tourism but religious practices the book clearly illustrates tend to slip out of state control and tourist tastes push development into directions not anticipated or welcomed by the state Contributions by Kenneth Dean Brian R Dott Xiaofei Kang Charlene Makley Susan K McCarthy Charles F McKhann Tim Oakes Yu Luo Rioux Donald S Sutton Marina Svensson and Rubie Watson University of Michigan Index to Labor Union Periodicals, 1964 Responsibilities and Dispensations Carl N.
