The Other Child Linda Scotson, 2024-04-23 In The Other Child Linda Scotson looks at the impact on a child at the arrival of a handicapped sibling Lili Linda Scotson's daughter was only two when Doran was born and she has been Doran's companion motivator carer in fact sister extraordinaire In helping Doran she has had to cope with other problems with the loss of her father ill health and her own minor neurological difficulties But she has done so with courage and determination What do siblings lose growing up with a brother or sister with brain injury and what do they gain How does the hostility and indifference of the outside world affect these children's lives Becoming carers themselves do they miss out on parental care from weary and overstretched parents How do they reach an understanding often when very young of what their injured sibling can and cannot do Shining through these stories is the love the humor and the constancy with which these children approach their very difficult family position many of them in adulthood continuing to care for the handicapped companion of their childhood By drawing attention to these children Linda Scotson not only pays tribute to their qualities but also shows how unjust the system is towards those parents struggling to keep their brain injured child within the family She argues for a greater network of support systems for the healthy siblings and a greater understanding of the new home treatment programs for injured children programs in which the whole family as a team can participate This will be an invaluable book for parents of brain injured children and for all those professionally involved in the care of such families

The Translation of Violence in Children's Literature Marija Todorova, 2021-11-29 Considering children's literature as a powerful repository for creating and proliferating cultural and national identities this monograph is the first academic study of children's literature in translation from the Western Balkans Marija Todorova looks at a broad range of children's literature from fiction to creative non-fiction and picture books across five different countries in the Western Balkans with each chapter including detailed textual and visual analysis through the predominant lens of violence These chapters raise questions around who initiates and effectuates the selection of children's literature from the Western Balkans for translation into English and interrogate the role of different stakeholders such as translators publishers and cultural institutions in the representation and construction of these countries in translated children's literature both in text and visually Given the combination of this study's interdisciplinary nature and Todorova's detailed analysis this book will prove to be an essential resource for professional translators researchers and students in courses in translation studies children's literature or area studies especially that of countries in the Western Balkans

DHEW Publication No. (OE)., 1972 The Other in the School Stories Ulrike Pesold, 2017-03-27 In The Other in the School Stories A Phenomenon in British Children's Literature Ulrike Pesold examines the portrayal of class gender race and ethnicity in selected school stories and shows how the treatment of the Other develops over a period of a century and a half The study also highlights the transition from the traditional school story to the witch school story that by now has become a subgenre of its own The school stories that are analysed include

Stories and Poems Rudyard Kipling, 2015-10-08
Hear and attend and listen Rudyard Kipling is a supreme master of the short story in English and a poet of brilliant gifts His energy and inventiveness poured themselves into every kind of tale from the bleakest of fables to the richest of comedies and he illuminated every aspect of human behaviour of which he was a fascinated and sometimes appalled observer This generous selection of stories and poems first published in the acclaimed Oxford Authors series covers the full range of Kipling's career from the youthful volumes that brought him fame as the chronicler of British India to the bittersweet fruits of age and bereavement in the aftermath of the First World War It includes stories such as The Man who would be King Mrs Bathurst and Mary Postgate and poems from Barrack Room Ballads and other collections In his introduction and notes Daniel Karlin addresses the controversial political engagement of Kipling's art and the sources of its imaginative power
