The Mind Master:

The Mind Master James E. Gunn, 1980 The Mind Master Arthur J. Burks, 2011-05-01 Sequel to Manape the Mighty

Once more Lee Bentley is caught up in the marvelous machinations of the mad genius Barter. Let's hope the horrible nightmare is over. Dearest Ellen Estabrook told Lee Bentley as their liner came crawling up through the Narrows and the Statue of Liberty greeted the two with uplifted torch. Beyond Staten Island New York's skyline was beautiful through the mist and smoke which always seemed to mask it. It was good to be home again. Certainly it was a far cry from the African jungles where for the space of a ghastly nightmare Ellen had been a captive of the apes and Bentley himself had had a horrible adventure. Caleb Barter, a mad scientist, had drugged him and exchanged his brain with that of an ape and for hours Bentley had roamed the jungles hidden in the great hairy body, the only part of him remaining Bentley being the Bentley brain which Barter had placed in the ape's skull. Bentley would never forget the horror of that grim awakening in which he had found himself walking on bent knuckles, his voice the fighting bellow of a giant anthropoid. Yes, it was a far cry from the African jungles to populous Manhattan. As soon as Ellen and Lee considered themselves recovered from the shock of the experience, they would be married. They had already spent two months of absolute rest in England after their escape from Africa, but they found it had not been enough. Their story had been told in the press of the world and they had been constantly besieged by the curious, which of course had not helped them to forget. Lee whispered to Ellen, "I'll never feel sure that Caleb Barter is dead. We should have gone out that morning when he forgot to take his whip and we thought the vengeful apes had slain him. We should have proved it to our own satisfaction. It would be an ironic jest characteristic of Barter to allow us to think him dead." He's dead all right, dear, replied Bentley, his nostrils quivering with pleasure as he looked ahead at New York while the breeze along the Hudson pushed his hair back from his forehead. He had abused the great anthropoids for too many years. They seized their opportunity, don't mistake that. Still, he was a genius in his way, a mad, frightful genius. It hardly seems possible to me that he would allow himself to be so easily trapped. It's a reflection on his great mentality, twisted though it was. Forget it, dear, replied Bentley, putting his arm around her shoulders. We'll both try to forget. After our nerves have returned to normal, we'll be married. Then nothing can trouble us. The vessel docked and later Lee and Ellen entered a taxicab near the pier. I'll take you to your home, Ellen said Bentley. Then I'll look after my own affairs for the next couple of days which includes making peace with my father, then we'll go on from here. They looked through the windows of the cab as they rolled into lower Fifth Avenue and headed uptown. Newsies were screaming an extra from the sidewalks. Excitement said Bentley enthusiastically. It's certainly good to be home and hear a newsboy's unintelligible screaming of an extra isn't it? On an impulse he ordered the cabbie to draw up to the curb and purchased a newspaper. Do you mind if I glance through the headlines? Bentley asked Ellen. I haven't looked at an American paper for ever so long. The cab started again and Bentley folded the paper, falling easily into the habit of New Yorkers who are accustomed to reading on subways where there isn't

Hanh offers powerful direct and uncompromising reflections on Zen thought mindfulness and the enlightenment inherent within us all One of the key tenets of the Zen school of Mahayana Buddhism is that each one of us is already a Buddha our enlightenment is inherent within us and the practice of mindfulness is the tool to bring this truth to our full awareness While it can bring much relief this simple statement does not preclude the need for practice We must strive to always be aware of our Buddha nature rather than waiting until times of emotional upheaval when it is more difficult to practice Thich Nhat

Hanh uses the teachings of 9th century Zen Master Linji to elaborate on this simple truth and to give readers tools that can help awaken them to their true inner nature. Linji's recorded teachings are the most significant we have from the Chan school. One of the unique aspects of Linji's teaching is the need to wake ourselves up not only by means of sitting meditation and listening to enlightened teachings but also through unique techniques such as the shout, the stick, and the empty fist. Master Linji emphasized direct experience of our true nature over intellectual explorations of the teachings, and he encouraged his students to not become lost in the knowledge or the concepts of the teaching.
