emerged as well as a new conceptualization of active citizenship. These developments encouraged the authors of this collection to address legal, social, political, philosophical, and media aspects of the emancipatory potential of participatory democracy. They focus on specific case studies stretching across various places and spheres: from the Canadian media legislature, community organizing in low-income neighbourhoods of the USA, the Knesset of Israel, the Roma minority in Poland, and legal texts of Austria to the online sphere of art and digital democracy. The key advantage of this book thus lies in its multifaceted consideration of seemingly disparate yet highly intertwined and ubiquitous concepts of democratic societies around the globe.

Cultures of Participation Birgit Eriksson, Carsten Stage, Bjarki Valtýsson, 2019-09-05. This book examines cultural participation from three different but interrelated perspectives: participatory art and aesthetics, participatory digital media, and participatory cultural policies and institutions. Focusing on how ideals and practices relating to cultural participation express and re-produce different cultures of participation, an interdisciplinary team of authors demonstrate how the areas of arts, digital media, and cultural policy and institutions are shaped by different but interrelated contextual backgrounds. Chapters offer a variety of perspectives and strategies for empirically identifying cultures of participation and their current transformations and tensions in various regional and national settings. This book will be of interest to academics and cultural leaders in the areas of museum studies, media and communications, arts, arts education, cultural studies, curatorial studies, and digital studies. It will also be relevant for cultural workers, artists, and policy makers interested in the participatory agenda in art, digital media, and cultural institutions.

History of Intellectual Culture 1/2022 Charlotte A. Lerg, Johan Östling, Jana Weiß, 2022-10-24. With concepts of participation discussed in multiple disciplines from media studies to anthropology, from political sciences to sociology, the first issue of the new yearbook History of Intellectual Culture HIC dedicates a thematic section to the way knowledge can and arguably must be conceptualized as participatory. Introducing and exploring participatory knowledge, the volume aims to draw attention to the potential of looking at knowledge formation and circulation through a new lens and to open a dialogue about how and what concepts and theories of participation can contribute to the history of knowledge By asking who gets to participate in defining what counts as knowledge and in deciding whose knowledge is circulated modes of participation enter into the examination of knowledge on various levels and within multiple cultural contexts The articles in this volume attest to the great variety of approaches contexts and interpretations of participatory knowledge from the sociological projects of the Frankfurt School to the Uppsala based Institute for Race Biology from the Argentinian National Folklore Survey to current hashtag activism and Covid 19 archive projects HIC sees knowledge as rooted in social and political structures determined by modes of transfer and produced in collaborative processes The notion of participatory knowledge highlights in a compelling way how knowledge is rooted in cultural practices and social configurations Experimental Museology Marianne Achiam, Michael Haldrup, Kirsten

Drotner, 2021-06-28 Experimental Museology scrutinizes innovative endeavours to transform museum interactions with the world Analysing cutting edge cases from around the globe the volume demonstrates how museums can design apply and assess new modes of audience engagement and participation Written by an interdisciplinary group of researchers and research led professionals the book argues that museum transformations must be focused on conceptualizing and documenting the everyday challenges and choices facing museums especially in relation to wider social political and economic ramifications In order to illuminate the complexity of these challenges the volume is structured into three related key dimensions of museum practice namely institutions representations and users Each chapter is based on a curatorial design proposed and performed in collaboration between university based academics and a museum Taken together the chapters provide insights into a diversity of geographical contexts fields and museums thus building a comprehensive and reflexive repository of design practices and formative experiments that can help strengthen future museum research and design Experimental Museology will be of great value to academics and students in the fields of museum gallery and heritage studies as well as architecture design communication and cultural studies It will also be of interest to museum professionals and anyone else who is interested in learning more about experimentation and design as resources in museums The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons
