Women, Economic Development, and Higher Education Diane E. Eynon,2017-06-19

This book is a multi disciplinary exploration of the intersection relationship and connection between higher education economic development and gender in post Apartheid South Africa In just twenty years South Africa has rewritten its constitution restructured its macroeconomic growth and development policies restructured its higher education system and made a commitment to provide opportunity for all its citizens specifically those who have historically been marginalized women and blacks Eynon weaves together these unique perspectives to illustrate how these multiple domains map onto women and the critical role they play in the present and future of the country Gender equality and women s empowerment and education were considered key drivers to South Africa s transformation

Higher Education in the BRICS

Countries Simon Schwartzman,Rómulo Pinheiro,Pundy Pillay,2015-03-24 In spite of the increasing attention attributed to the rise in prominence of the BRICS Brazil Russia India China and South Africa countries few studies have looked at the ways in which broader social expectations with respect to the role of higher education across the BRICS have changed or not in recent years Our point of departure is that contrary to the conventional wisdom focusing on functionalistic perspectives higher education systems are not just designed by governments to fulfill certain functions but have a tendency for evolving in a rather unpredictable fashion as a result of the complex interplay between a number of internal and external factors In reality national higher education systems develop and change according to a complex process that encompasses the expectations of governmental agencies markets the aspirations of the population for the benefits of education the specific institutional traditions and cultures of higher education institutions and increasingly so the interests and strategies of the private firms entering and offering services in the higher education market This basically means that it is of outmost importance to move away from conceiving of universities or higher education as single monolithic actors or sector One way of doing this is by investigating a selected number of distinct but nonetheless interrelated factors or drivers which taken together help determine the nature and scope of the social compact between higher education its core actors and institutions and society at large government industry local communities professional associations

Transnational Education and Curriculum Studies John Chi-Kin Lee, Noel Gough, 2020-07-28 In recent years there has been increasing attention placed on international and transnational aspects of school and higher education curricula and the different research approaches and lenses through which these issues are studied This edited volume explores diverse perspectives and discourses of curriculum studies contributed by scholars both within and outside the majority world In addition it tackles both transnational cross border endeavours involving national governments and policy measures and the promises challenges and failings of those formal relationships The book consists of three sections The first section provides an introduction and overviews of transnational education in connection with curriculum studies schooling and higher education The second section deals with transnational and international perspectives on curriculum studies schooling and education The final third section highlights transnational and international perspectives on higher education This timely volume tackles the questions often posed by curriculum scholars and educational researchers around the possibility of a transnational approach to curriculum studies and how and if a common set of means can transcend national boundaries and sensitivities It looks at the common issues and problems across nations that international and transnational curriculum and educational research work could address This volume will appeal to researchers and policy makers interested in transnational education and curriculum studies
