Gizmo Warm-up

Ocean swells are an example of waves. In the Waves Gizmo, you will observe wave motion on a model of a spring. The hand can move the spring up and down or back and forth.

To begin, check that the Type of wave is Transverse, Amplitude is 20.0 cm, Frequency is 0.75 Hz, Tension is 3.0 N, and Density is 1.0 kg/m. (Note: In this Gizmo, "density" refers to the linear mass density, or mass per unit length. It is measured in units of kilograms per meter.)

1. Click Play (▶). How would you describe the motion of a transverse wave? The coils of the spring model move up and down as the wave goes from left to right.

Click Pause (⏸). Notice the crests (high points) and troughs (low points) of the wave.

2. Click Reset (↺). Choose the Longitudinal wave and increase the Amplitude to 20.0 cm. Click Play. How would you describe the motion of a longitudinal wave?

Click Pause. Notice the compressions in the wave where the coils of the spring model are close together and the rarefactions where the coils are spread apart.

activities where students have opportunities to exercise their autonomy Such autonomy support includes the influence of teacher feedback upon students perceived competence and their subsequent motivation to autonomously engage with learning activities This research begins to unravel such motivational interplay through an SDT informed model which is used as the basis for discussing the specific influence of teacher feedback and autonomy support upon students engagement with learning activities in formal learning settings The findings and model are worthy of further testing and development as part of the wider agenda of student engagement wellbeing and positive psychology prevalent in educational research education psychology and the philosophy of social motivation

Identity Interconnections Aerial A. Ashlee,Lisa Delacruz Combs,2023-07-03 Co published with This book advocates an approach the authors call Identity Interconnections as a way of moving considerations of identity differences and commonalities from theory to socially just action in student affairs practice Through pursuing complex commonalities expansive enough to hold both similarities and differences student affairs educators can ethically consider identity interconnections in such a way that does not diminish difference but instead recognizes points of difference as opportunities for social justice action By pursuing radical interconnectivity student affairs educators can advance an interdependent understanding of inherited systems of power recognizing the ways in which all systems and thus all oppression and all liberation are interconnected This interconnected insight can enable student affairs educators to extend beyond binary and oppositional thinking and in turn give rise to the formation of new coalitions Finally by listening with raw openness allowing themselves and encouraging their students to be changed by others experiences student affairs educators can facilitate identity development and social justice action as interrelated endeavors The editors have heard comments like This is all great in theory but how can student affairs practitioners actually apply this This book answers that question by providing a theoretical framework and multiple practical examples for employing identity interconnections as expansive approaches to identity development and social justice action in student affairs Geophysics Liu Guangding,2020-04-22
