The Oxfam Poverty Report

Kevin Watkins, 1995 Fifty years ago the United Nations Charter proclaimed universal rights to shared prosperity peace and security How far has that vision of world citizenship been realised Despite advances in human welfare and technology there is today a growing polarisation between rich and poor One in four of the world's people live in absolute poverty unable to meet their basic needs armed conflict is affecting millions of people and the global environment is under threat Yet there is a failure of political will to address the silent emergency of poverty The Oxfam Poverty Report draws on Oxfam's experience of working in over 70 countries to examine the causes of poverty and conflict It identifies the structural forces which deny people their basic rights and gives a wide range of examples of the ways in which men and women are bringing about positive change at every level from the household to the international arena Oxfam believes that it is time to renew the UN vision of universal basic rights The Report concludes by proposing policy and institutional reforms which would transform international institutions and trading relations and calls for a new commitment to work together to eradicate poverty and bring sustainable peace and security for all the world's people

World History: Connections to Today Elisabeth Gaynor

Ellis, Pearson/Prentice Hall, 2003-12 The Problem with Survey Research George Beam, 2017-09-08 The Problem with Survey Research makes a case against survey research as a primary source of reliable information George Beam argues that all survey research instruments all types of asking including polls face to face interviews and focus groups produce unreliable and potentially inaccurate results Because those who rely on survey research only see answers to questions it is impossible for them or anyone else to evaluate the results They cannot know if the answers correspond to respondents actual behaviors objective phenomena or to their true beliefs and opinions subjective phenomena Reliable information can only be acquired by observation experimentation multiple sources of data formal model building and testing document analysis and comparison In fifteen chapters divided into six parts Ubiquity of Survey Research The Problem Asking Instruments Asking Settings Askers and Proper Methods and Research Designs The Problem with Survey Research demonstrates how asking instruments settings in which asking and answering take place and survey researchers themselves skew results and thereby make answers unreliable The last two chapters and appendices examine observation other methods of data collection and research designs that may produce accurate or correct information and shows how reliance on survey research can be overcome and must be Resources in Education , 2001-10 Latin American Economic Development Javier A.
