Historic Homes of New Albany, Indiana David C. Barksdale, 2015-11-02 New Albany's historic homes boast unique histories and fascinating stories of those who inhabited them Founded in 1813 below the falls of the Ohio River the city was Indiana's most populous by the middle of the nineteenth century Many leading citizens built grand mansions and family dwellings that beamed with prosperity and influence The architectural legacy during these formative years continued into the early twentieth century and produced historic neighborhoods with a rich collection of housing styles Join authors David C Barksdale and Gregory A Sekula as they delve into the history of New Albany's most cherished old homes Copy of the Register of the Electors of the borough of Finsbury, for the year 1833-4, 1834 Evolution from a

Thermodynamic Perspective Carl F Jordan, 2021-11-26 Survival of the fittest is a tautology because those that are fit are the ones that survive but to survive a species must be fit Modern evolutionary theory avoids the problem by defining fitness as reproductive success but the complexity of life that we see today could not have evolved based on selection that favors only reproductive ability There is nothing inherent in reproductive success alone that could result in higher forms of life Evolution from a Thermodynamic Perspective presents a non circular definition of fitness and a thermodynamic definition of evolution Fitness means maximization of power output necessary to survive in a competitive world Evolution is the storage of entropy Entropy storage means that solar energy instead of dissipating as heat in the Earth is stored in the structure of living organisms and ecosystems Part one explains this in terms comprehensible to a scientific audience beyond biophysicists and ecosystem modelers Part two applies thermodynamic theory in non esoteric language to sustainability of agriculture and to conservation of endangered species While natural systems are stabilized by feedback agricultural systems remain in a mode of perpetual growth pressured by balance of trade and by a swelling population The constraints imposed by thermodynamic
