

(2) Undulated field — homogeneous soil

(a) Position control "P"

The tractor with the implements forms one rigid unit, so that the swings of the tractor are transmitted onto the carried implements. When travelling over a ground wave, the implements are raised, especially the second and third blade; when travelling over a depression, an unproportional deepening takes place. Thus position control is under most ground conditions not suitable for ploughing, since only rarely completely level ground exists. This is, on the other hand, employed for implements, the working bodies of which are free to move individually and rest on the ground, such as hoes, drills, etc.

(b) Power control "S"

This is ideal for work in homogeneous soil. If the tractor is lifted at the front end, an increased pressure or tension is exerted on the upper pull rod which leads to the control device that raises or lowers the plough right up to the soil resistance, i.e. the adjusted depth of the furrow is obtained.

(3) Level field — non-homogeneous soil

(a) Power control "S"

In case of small elements of other soil types or local shiftings, e. g. tracks from a harvester, these influences can be eliminated by the speed of reaction. Before the delayed effect of raising or lowering takes place, the tractor has already passed the respective point.

(b) Mixed control "M"

For non-homogeneous soil conditions, mixed control exhibits the greatest advantage. Depth deviations are approximately half in comparison with power control. Depth deviations are usually within the tolerance limits of agricultural specifications.

(4) Undulated field — non-homogeneous soil

Unless the differences in soil compaction are excessive, it is recommended to employ power control, since control according to resistance maintains, as has already been pointed out, a uniform depth of the furrow. The greater, however, the irregularities, the more apparent become the advantages of mixed control. Through the action of mixed control, elevated sections are ploughed to a greater depth and depressions to a smaller depth, so that mixed control tends to level the field.
