Zimsec Mathematic Paper 1 November 2014:

The World of Science Education Femi S. Otulaja, Meshach B. Ogunniyi, 2017-09-12 Each volume in the 7 volume series The World of Science Education reviews research in a key region of the world. These regions include North America, South and Latin America, Asia, Australia and New Zealand, Europe and Israel, North Africa and the Middle East, and Sub-Saharan Africa. The focus of this Handbook is on research in science education in mostly former British colonies in Sub-Saharan Africa and the scholarship that most closely support this program. The reviews of the research situate what has been accomplished within a given field in Sub-Saharan Africa rather than an international context. The purpose therefore is to articulate and exhibit regional networks and trends that produced specific forms of science education. The thrust lies in identifying the roots of research programs and sketching trajectories focusing the changing face of problems and solutions within regional contexts. The approach allows readers to review what has been done and accomplished, what is missing, and what might be done next.

The African Mother Tongue and Mathematical Ideas Abdul Karim Bangura, 2020-06-02 This book by renowned scholar Dr. Abdul Karim Bangura combines linguistics and mathematics to show how and why African-centred mathematical ideas can be a driving force in Africa's development efforts. Bangura explores the concept that Africa has been the centre of the History of Mathematics for thousands of years, as the civilizations that emerged across the continent developed contributions which would enrich both ancient and modern understanding of nature through mathematics. However, scholars and other professionals working in the field of mathematics education in Africa have identified a plethora of issues in carrying out their tasks. This is highlighted by one of the most compelling arguments in the book, which is that a major reason for these problems is the fact that the African mother tongues have been greatly neglected in the teaching of mathematics in the continent. Bangura asserts that a change has to be made in order for Africa to benefit from the exceptional opportunities mathematics offer, showing that even if there is a great body of work connecting linguistics and mathematics few analyses have been performed on the link between African languages and mathematics and the ones that have been made are not theoretically grounded on linguistics Thus the book begins by identifying the objects of study of linguistics and mathematics and delineates which ones they have in common Next since the object of study of linguistics is language the nine design features of language are employed to examine each of the objects as it pertains to African languages After that mathematical ideas of sustainability and those of tipping points are suggested as means to help Africa s development efforts
