User Workshop, London 1992 J.P. Bowen,J.E. Nicholls,2013-03-09 The Z notation has been developed at the Programming Research Group at the Oxford University Computing Laboratory and elsewhere for over a decade It is now used by industry as part of the software and hardware development process in both Europe and the USA It is currently undergoing BSI standardisation in the UK and has been proposed for ISO standardisation internationally In recent years researchers have begun to focus increasingly on the development of techniques and tools to encourage the wider application of Z and other formal methods and notations This volume contains papers from the Seventh Annual Z User Meeting held in London in December 1992 In contrast to previous years the meeting concentrated specifically on industrial applications of Z and a high proportion of the participants came from an industrial background The theme is well represented by the four invited papers Three of these discuss ways in which formal methods are being introduced and the fourth presents an international survey of industrial applications It also provides a reminder of the improvements which are needed to make these methods an accepted part of software development In addition the volume contains several submitted papers on the industrial use of Z two of which discuss the key area of safety critical applications There are also a number of papers related to the recently completed ZIP project The papers cover all the main areas of the project including methods tools and the development of a Z Standard the first publicly available version of which was made available at the meeting Finally the volume contains a select Z bibliography and section on how to access information on Z through comp specification z the international computer based USENET newsgroup Z User Workshop London 1992 provides an important overview of current research into industrial applications of Z and will provide invaluable reading for researchers postgraduate students and also potential industrial users Revolution Christopher C. Gillis,2023-12-14 It may sound simple Fashion a set of blades attach them to a generator set the machine on top of a tower and let the wind do the work of creating electricity Not so Most of these attempts fail even with the availability of the latest technologies In Wind Energy Revolution Christopher C Gillis Sr examines the efforts to develop small wind generators for use at homes farms and ranches following the 1973 Arab Oil Embargo Wind machines were once featured prominently on farms and homesteads throughout the Midwest of the United States and Canada during the late 1910s through the early 1950s in areas that had no access to overhead electric power transmission lines As a result of rural America s connection to the power grid many of these pioneer wind electric machines fell victim to electrical power lines Interest in wind energy resurfaced in the early 1970s when energy shortages were created by the Arab Oil Embargo the rise of environmentalism and the move toward self sufficient off the grid living Early wind electric machines were dusted off and restored back into service while several former manufacturers reemerged and entrepreneurs developed new designs Political and societal interest in renewable energies wind and solar began to wane in the early 1980s and did not return until the late 1990s Even so the developments in the 1970s influenced how Americans subsequently viewed and used renewable power Wind Energy Revolution is a first of its kind comprehensive history for historians and anyone interested in wind as a viable renewable resource Semantics of Specification Languages (SoSL) Derek J. Andrews,Jan F. Groote,C.A.

Middelburg,2012-12-06 SoSL was the first International Workshop on Semantics of Specification Languages held from 25 27 October 1993 in Utrecht the Netherlands The workshop was organized by the Department of Philosophy of Utrecht University with financial support from the Nationale Faciliteit Informatica of the Nederlandse Organisatie voor Wetenschappelijk Onderzoek NWO and under the auspices of the British Computer Society S specialist group in Formal Aspects of Computing Science BCS FACS The concern of the workshop was the semantics of specification languages and the issues closely related to this area such as type checking and the justification of proof rules and proof obligations Its aim was the exchange of problems and ideas in this field of formal methods and the identification of common programs of work for further investigation The program of SoSL consisted of 3 invited lectures presenting the developments of the semantics of 3 major specification languages Furthermore there were 16 presentations of submitted papers This volume provides a direct account of the workshop It contains 3 papers that match the invited lectures and the 16 selected papers The editors want to thank all those who have contributed to the workshop the Program Committee and the referees for selecting the contributed papers the invited speakers for their interesting talks the Organizing Committee for all their efforts and of course the participants We have the feeling that the workshop was worthwhile and should be repeated Scientific and Technical

Parsons, 2017 Neuropsychology as a field has been slow to embrace and exploit the potential offered by technology to either make the assessment process more efficient or to develop new capabilities that augment the assessment of cognition. The Role of Technology in Clinical Neuropsychology details current efforts to use technology to enhance cognitive assessment with an emphasis on developing expanded capabilities for clinical assessment. The first sections of the book provide an overview of current approaches to computerized assessment along with newer technologies to assess behavior. The next series of chapters explores the use of novel technologies and approaches in cognitive assessment as they relate to developments in telemedicine, mobile health, and remote monitoring, including developing smart environments. While still largely office based, health care is increasingly moving out of the office with an increased emphasis on connecting patients with providers and providers with other providers remotely. Chapters also address the use of technology to enhance cognitive rehabilitation by implementing conceptually based games to teach cognitive strategies and virtual environments to measure outcomes. Next, the chapters explore the use of virtual reality and scenario based assessment to capture critical aspects of performance not assessed by traditional means and the implementation of neurobiological metrics to enhance patient assessment. Chapters also address the use of imaging to better define cognitive skills and assessment methods along with the integration of cognitive assessment with imaging to define the functioning of brain networks. The final section of the book discusses the ethical and methodological considerations needed for adopting advanced technologies for neuropsychological assessment. Authored by numerous leading figures in the field of neuropsychology, this volume emphasizes the critical role that virtual environments, neuroimaging, and data analytics will play as clinical neuropsychology moves forward in the future.
