

Sonnet 18

by William Shakespeare

Directions: First, read the sonnet on the left, and then summarize it stanza by stanza on the right. Finally, answer the analysis questions underneath the sonnet.

Sonnet 18

Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
 Thou art more lovely and more temperate.
 Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May,
 And summer's lease hath all too short a date.
 Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines,
 And often is his gold complexion dimmed,
 And every fair from fair sometime declines,
 By chance, or nature's changing course, untrimmed;
 But thy eternal summer shall not fade,
 Nor lose possession of that fair thou ow'st,
 Nor shall death brag thou wand'rest in his shade,
 When in eternal lines to Time thou grow'st.
 So long as men can breathe or eyes can see,
 So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.

Summary

The speaker is comparing his beloved to a summer's day, who is more lovely and even-tempered than summer.

Summer is too short, here the speaker starts to list negative aspects of summer.

Summer can be too hot; sometimes the sun can be obscured by clouds. The beauty of summer fades.

Back to his beloved -- her "summer" will not fade; her beauty will not go away.

Death will never be able to take her.

She exists in eternal lines (meaning poetry).

As long as humans exist and can see (go on to read), the poem hers writing will live on, allowing the beloved to keep living as well.

Gender and Language Learning Daniela Elsner, Viviane Lohe, 2016-06-13

Although Gender Studies have found their way into most domains of academic research and teaching, they are not directly in the spotlight of foreign language teaching pedagogy and research. However, teachers are confronted with gender issues in the language classroom everyday. By the use of language alone, they construct or deconstruct gender roles; with the choice of topics, they shape gender identities in the classroom; and their ways of approaching pupils clearly mirror their gender sensitivity. The book Gender and Language Learning aims at raising awareness towards gender issues in different areas of foreign language teaching and learning. The primary objective of the book is to spark university students, trainee teachers, and in-service teachers' analysis and reflection of gender relations in the foreign language learning and teaching section.

The Well-Trained Mind Susan Wise Bauer, Jessie Wise, 2009-05-04

If you're a parent who has decided to educate your children yourself, this book is the first you should buy. Washington Times: The Well-Trained Mind will instruct you step by step on how to give your child an academically rigorous, comprehensive education from preschool through high school, one that will train him or her to read, to think, to understand, to be well-rounded, and curious about learning. Veteran home educators Jessie Wise and Susan Wise Bauer outline the classical pattern of education called the trivium, which organizes learning around the maturing capacity of the child's mind and comprises three stages: the elementary school grammar stage, the middle school logic stage, and the high school rhetoric stage. Using this theory as your model, you'll be able to instruct your child in all levels of reading, writing, history, geography, mathematics, science, foreign languages, rhetoric, logic, art, and music, regardless of your own aptitude in those subjects. This newly revised edition contains completely updated ordering information for all curricula and books, new and expanded curricula recommendations new material on using computers and distance learning resources answers to common questions about home education information about educational support groups and advice on practical matters such as working with your local school board preparing a high school transcript and applying to colleges Resources in Education ,1996-05 Research in Education ,1973
