devices offer a broad range of opportunities from entertainment service e.g. music games or video up to transactions e.g. banking shopping auctions. It is still unclear if all the emerging opportunities can be commercialized successfully. Nevertheless, many scenarios of how the world could be like in the future have been made. Below is an excerpt of the daily routine of a future mobile user is presented. Nancy D. Amato prepares to leave her office just before five o'clock. She uses her mobile phone for a quick check of the local weather forecast, sees that fine conditions are expected for the evening and decides to leave her umbrella by her desk. Nancy is due to meet her boyfriend Peter at seven o'clock, so she has two hours in town to waste. As soon as the clock reaches five, she receives a text message telling her that the bar across the street has a happy hour when drinks are cheaper. Nancy deletes the message almost without reading it. She has given her mobile service provider permission to send her unsolicited local promotional messages; after five, otherwise she would have to pay a higher subscription rate, but that does not mean she actually has to read the message, does it? Five minutes later another message arrives with a coupon offering a discount at the local branch of her favorite coffee bar. She shows the coffee shop attendant the numbered message on her phone's screen and he keys in the number on the till when charging for the coffee. Now comfortably seated with her cappuccino, Nancy begins to plan her evening. She uses her mobile to check which movies are showing nearby after seven.
