Powered by Faith Tapiwa Praise Mapuranga,2018-11-30 This book investigates the impact of Pentecostalism on the participation of women in business in Harare Zimbabwe Chapters in this volume trace the history of women s participation in business and highlight how Pentecostalism serves as a major motivating factor The central argument is that there is a way in which selected women s businesses are powered by the Spirit Contributors to the volume utilize case studies of selected Pentecostal churches and ministries to highlight how the religious ideologies of these churches galvanize them to engage in business They also draw patterns of similarity and difference across the different Pentecostal churches The volume demonstrates how Pentecostalism both facilitates and militates against women s participation in business concerning a specific setting in Zimbabwe A Systems Approach to Modeling Community Development Projects Bernard Amadei, 2015-09-14 This book makes the case for a systems approach to small scale community development projects It specifically looks at the application of one branch of systems science called system dynamics to develop conceptual models of small scale communities and address specific issues they might be facing at different scales A systems approach recognizes that by definition communities are complex adaptive systems consisting of multiple subsystems and parts e g individuals institutions and infrastructure that are interconnected driven by some purpose follow certain rules and interact with each other and with their surrounding environment In order to address community issues and problems complexity and uncertainty must be embraced and dealt with Inside the author emphasizes and shows how to include a system and complexity aware approach in the different phases of small scale community project management Adopting this approach comes with unique challenges such as dealing with ill defined problems considering uncertainty recognizing that no unique and best solutions to complex problems exist and accepting satisficing solutions The text demonstrates the need for community development practitioners to integrate in all stages of their projects participation systems thinking continuous reflection in action and a combination of critical and creative tools Competition Law in Developing Countries Thomas K. Cheng, 2020-05-27 This book brings together perspectives of development economics and law to tackle the relationship between competition law enforcement and economic development It addresses the question of whether and how competition law enforcement helps to promote economic growth and development This question is highly pertinent for developing countries largely because many developing countries have only adopted competition law in recent years about thirty jurisdictions had in place a competition law in the early 1980s and there are now more than 130 competition law regimes across the world of which many are developing countries The book proposes a customized approach to competition law enforcement for developing countries set against the background of the academic and policy debate concerning convergence of competition law The implicit premise of convergence is that there may exist one or a few correct approaches to competition law enforcement which in most cases emanate from developed jurisdictions that are applicable to all This book rejects this assumption and argues that developing countries ought to tailor competition law enforcement to their own economic and political circumstances In particular it suggests how competition law enforcement can better incorporate development concerns without causing undue dilution of its traditional focus on protecting consumer welfare It proposes ways in which approaches to competition law enforcement need to be adjusted to reflect the special economic characteristics of developing country economies and the more limited enforcement capacity of developing country competition authorities Finally it also addresses the long running debate concerning the desirability and viability of industrial policy for developing countries The author would like to acknowledge the Research Grants Council of Hong Kong for its generous support The work in this book was fully supported by a grant from the Research Grants Council of Hong Kong Project No HKU 742412H

Rural Development Adam Pain, Kjell Hansen, 2019-06-17 Rural Development is a textbook that critically examines economic social and cultural aspects of rural development efforts both in the global north and in the global south By consistently using examples from the north and the south the book highlights similarities of processes as well as differences in contexts The authors knowledge of Afghanistan and Sweden respectively creates a core for the discussions which are complemented with a wide range of other empirical examples Rural Development is divided into nine chapters each with a thematic focus ranging from concepts and theories through rural livelihoods and natural resources to discussions on policy and processes of change The book sees rural development as a multi level multi actor and multi faceted subject area that needs multidisciplinary perspectives both to support it and to analyse it Throughout the book examples of rural development interventions are discussed using analytical concepts such as power discourse consequences and context to grasp rural development as practices that are more than what is presented in policy documents The book is written in a way that makes it accessible for undergraduates while at the same time caters for the kind of deeper reading used by master students and Ph D s Every chapter is linked to discussion questions as well as suggested further readings and useful websites

Bangladesh at Fifty Mustafa K. Mujeri, Neaz Mujeri, 2020-11-07 This book explores the diverse experience of Bangladesh s development over the last fifty years and provides systematic explanations of its success in socioeconomic development It also assesses future trends on the basis of past experiences It is widely acknowledged that Bangladesh provides one of the most striking examples in the study of present day development along with rapid growth and catching up The analysis highlights the development traps that Bangladesh faced during its journey and the ones that may have to be faced in the coming decades in order to move towards prosperity The book asserts that explaining Bangladesh s development is not for the simpleminded any single mono causal explanation for Bangladesh s development is bound to fall down in the face of reality This book will be of interest to academics students policy makers and development practitioners especially in developing countries in particular in South Asia and Bangladesh

Handbook of Ethics of Islamic Economics and Finance Abbas Mirakhor, Zamir Iqbal, Seyed Kazem Sadr, 2020-04-20 Since the financial crisis of 2007 2008 a renewed discussion on the ethics and finance is being examined from different dimensions finance for good society responsible finance ethical finance financial crimes and financial repression The principal objective of this Handbook on Ethics of Islamic Economics and Finance is to provide a deeper understanding of the ethical underpinning of Islamic economics and finance The reader will notice that the Handbook reflects a diversity of views on the subject of economic and business ethics in Islam across the intellectual spectrum of Muslim thought over the globe Handbook attempts to find answers to some questions concerning the definition and characteristics of the ethical system in Islam What is its goal and how do its rules and practices ensure welfare for individuals and society Are the moral principles universal and invariable or do they change and adapt with the social changes of communities and progress in science and technology Is the present generation accountable for the welfare of future generations Where is the boundary between law and ethics and who guarantees their adoption and implementation meet you again in the next edition BIC VII or BICoSecH VII Advances in Well-Being Richard J. Estes, M. Joseph Sirgy, 2018-01-22 Media and research tend to focus on social problems in today's world from terrorism and natural disasters to environmental degradation, conflict and economic decline. Yet many countries are also placing the promotion of well-being central at the heart of their social agenda. So what can we say about human progress and the development of civilization? This book considers the brighter side of our world today by exploring the ways in which wellbeing is on an upward swing globally. Systematically considering indicators of human well-being in terms of economics, health and education alongside subjective notions of wellbeing, the book draws together research and data from around the world. It uses the United Nations Development Programme's Human Development Index as an underlying framework from which to examine the ways in which wellbeing has improved since WWII. Analysing leading scholarship and empirical work allows the authors to determine policy recommendations for how we might continue to build a better world of human wellbeing.

The Political Economy of Good Governance Sisay Asefa, Wei-Chiao Huang, 2015-06-08 A notable group of social scientists explore the political economy of good governance and how it relates to performance management, the influence of political parties, education and health issues in developing countries, the economic performance of transition economies and the effects of climate on poverty.

Contemporary Perspectives on Art and International Development Polly Stupples, Katerina Teaiwa, 2016-10-26 Visual artists, craftspeople, musicians and performers have been supported by the development community for at least twenty years, yet there has been little grounded and critical research into the practices and politics of that support. This new Routledge book remedies that omission and brings together varied perspectives from artists, policy makers and researchers working in the Pacific, Africa, Latin America and Europe to explore the challenges and opportunities of supporting the arts in the development context. The book offers a series of grounded analyses which cover strategies for the sustainability of arts enterprises, innovative evaluation methods, theoretical engagements with questions of art agency and social change, artists' entanglements with legal and structural frameworks, processes of cultural mapping and the artist-donor interface. The creative economy is increasingly recognized as a driver of development and this book also investigates the contribution made by the arts to the processes of international development and considers how those processes can best be supported by development agencies.

Contemporary Perspectives on Art and International Development gives scholars of Development Studies, Social and Cultural Geography, Anthropology, Cultural Policy, Cultural Studies and Global Studies a contextually and thematically diverse range of insights into this emerging research field.
