ONDERHOUDSE SCHOONHEID[illegible]

Following the initial findings, we hypothesized that the observed association between low levels of perceived control and more problematic sleep in women ("lack of control") might itself represent a new psychological construct representing the experience of feeling less control over one's sleep environment.

Investment in research and development is essential for the long-term success of a company. It is a key driver of innovation and growth, and it is a critical component of a company's competitive advantage. Companies that invest in research and development are more likely to develop new products and services, which can help them stay ahead of the competition. Additionally, research and development can help companies improve their existing products and services, which can lead to increased customer satisfaction and loyalty. Finally, research and development can help companies identify new market opportunities, which can lead to increased sales and revenue.
