International Peacekeeping: The Yearbook of International Peace Operations Harvey Langholtz, Boris Kondoch, Alan Wells, 2021-11-22 International Peacekeeping is devoted to reporting upon and analyzing international peacekeeping with an emphasis upon legal and policy issues but is not limited to these issues It is recognized that in today's world there is a wealth of information available from the internet and through other sources It is therefore the goal of this Yearbook to make this information available in one publication which both organizes and records events over the course of a year through analytical articles a chronicle primary documents and a bibliography Topics include inter alia peacekeeping peace war conflict resolution diplomacy international law international security humanitarian relief humanitarian law and terrorism The Yearbook is of scholarly quality but is not narrowly theoretical It provides the interested public diplomats civil servants politicians the military academics journalists NGO employees and serious citizens with a document of record comment and a starting point for further research on peacekeeping and related topics This is achieved not only by the provision of basic documents on CD ROM such as Security Council Resolutions and Reports of the UN Secretary General but also by expert commentaries on world events Peacekeeping is treated in a pragmatic light seen as a form of international military cooperation for the preservation or restoration of international peace and security Attention is focused not only on UN peacekeeping operations but other missions as well This Yearbook is the continuation of the journal International

Peacekeeping Confronting Past Human Rights Violations Chandra Lekha Sriram,2004-08-12 This book examines what makes accountability for previous violations more or less possible for transitional regimes to achieve It closely examines the other vital goals of such regimes against which accountability is often balanced The options available are not simply prosecution or pardon as the most heated polemics of the debate over transitional justice suggest but a range of options from complete amnesty through truth commissions and lustration or purification to prosecutions The question then is not whether or not accountability can be achieved but what degree of accountability can be achieved by a given country The focus of the book is on the politics of transition what makes accountability more or less feasible and what strategies are deployed by regimes to achieve greater accountability or alternatively greater reform The result is a more nuanced understanding of the different conditions and possibilities that countries face and the lesson that there is no one size fits all prescription that can be handed to transitional regimes Replicating & Reproducing Policing Research Khadija Monk,Jacek

Koziarski,2024-04-30 This book addresses the need for policing scholarship to strengthen its empirical cumulative knowledge base by replicating and reproducing earlier studies The chapters in this volume advance policing research by replicating and reproducing earlier studies investigating the generalizability of research findings and making data and research methods available to other researchers to encourage scientific exploration of previous research findings Each chapter addresses important scientific goals of validity reliability and generalizability which build our cumulative knowledge of what is known in policing research ultimately informing policymaking The book offers insights into why replicating and reproducing policing scholarship is critical from emphasizing the importance of making data and study material publicly available to facilitate replications and reproductions to reproducing studies in new contexts and cautioning against making policy making decisions based on studies that have not been replicated This volume highlights the immense value in shifting researchers priorities even slightly to focus less so on originality and innovation to make room for replications and reproductions thereby shedding light on how true empirical knowledge on policing and police practice is dependent on it This book was originally published as a special issue of Police Practice and Research Community Psychology Anthony Naidoo,Jace Pillay,Brett

Reconstruction and Development in Africa Theo Neethling, Heidi Hudson, 2013-10-01 Some of the bloodiest conflicts occur on the African continent An Afrocentric perspective is therefore a suitable starting point for research into the possible strategies for post conflict peacebuilding The authors of this book consider the problems around the concept of post conflict and the blurring of military and civilian roles analysing the UN roles in the DRC and Sierra Leone as well as the African Union Mission in Burundi The main context of the book however is the South African Army's strategy for PCRD in Africa which was developed with the African Union's 2006 Post Conflict Reconstruction and Development Needs Assessment Guide in mind This book emanates from this plan It therefore also explores South Africa's policy imperatives to integrate development projects and peace missions involving the military as well as civilian organisations While this book is not intended as an instruction manual it hopes to ignite an understanding of the particular processes required to develop a sustainable and cohesive post conflict peacebuilding strategy within the African environment "Keep Your Head Down" Norma Kriger, 2007
