Bureau of Naval Personnel,1942 U.S. Naval Training Bulletin ,1950 Naval Training Bulletin ,1960 Sailor in the White House Robert Cross,2014-01-15 This behind the scenes look at Franklin D Roosevelt s extraordinary skill as a blue water sailor explores how FDR s love of the sea shaped his approach to public service and even influenced the course of events in World War II Family and friends Secret Service agents and others reveal never before told stories of their days afloat with America s greatest seafaring president including how he escaped injury when fire broke out aboard his small schooner how ships were modified to accommodate his disability and details of his wartime ocean rendezvous with Winston Churchill Sailing pals discuss his abilities as a skipper along with his enjoyment of an evening cocktail at sea during the days of Prohibition Letters and other documents illustrate how the sea was never far from Roosevelt s thoughts Robert Cross examines Roosevelt s great affection for the sea in the context of an era dominated by the Great Depression and two world wars While some criticized

Roosevelt for taking too many seagoing trips he lagged hundreds of thousands of miles at sea and was sometimes out of touch with the White House and the Secret Service for hours FDR was quick to explain that his lengthy voyages allowed him to personally assess the world situation instead of relying solely upon White House briefing books The author argues that the skills required to be a good sailor have much in common with those needed to be a successful politician the ability to alter courses make compromises and shift positions as the situation warrants Cross describes FDR as a master at dealing with the unexpected allowing him to excel in the Navy Department the governor s mansion and the White House as well as the open sea From luxury ocean liners and presidential yachts to submarines and kayaks this book lists all of the vessels on which FDR sailed and includes some never before published photographs

Two Navies Divided

Brian Lavery, 2025-04-22 The title is derived from George Bernard Shaw s comment that England and America are two countries divided by a common language It is not intended to imply that the two navies were seriously at odds with one another but rather to suggest as in the case of language that common roots and usages varied significantly And the Second World War is a pertinent moment for comparison They fought on the same side against a common enemy for nearly four years but Britain fought the war for the survival of itself and its empire though in the long term it failed with the latter while the American government fought to maintain its influence through the balance of power its people fought for revenge for Pearl Harbor and out of a sense of justice In this new book Brian Lavery describes and analyzes the differences and similarities between the two navies and in doing so sheds fascinating light on how the naval war was fought For example both navies had spectacular failures after entering the war the Royal Navy off Norway the USN at Pearl Harbor and Savo Island Paradoxically both commenced the war with quite amateur performances by professional navies and ended with highly skilled performances by largely amateur manned forces The training systems for regular officers had flaws in both countries In Britain entry was largely dependent on family income in America on political influence But American officers probably had a broader perspective by the time they entered active service The book covers ships and weapons systems for instance the British used too many gun types in the 4 to 6in range while the Americans concentrated on the well designed 5in And the author describes conditions onboard ships British vessels were awash with alcohol which had its attractions for Americans when alongside the Americans offered ice cream in return These examples represent only a tiny proportion of the subjects covered in this stimulating analysis Aviation the marines of both navies anti submarine and mine warfare uniforms propulsion systems shipbuilding and building programs commanders and national leaders ratings and officers ship design geographical environments naval bases hammocks and bunks the deployment of women these are among the myriad big and small themes that will open the eyes of naval historians and enthusiasts and show anyone with an interest in the Second World War how these two great allies came together to defeat the Axis forces escorting the vital convoys often comprised one on one actions These stories provide the focus of this detailed work The technical details of the U boats destroyers and destroyer escorts involved are explored in stunning illustrations including ship and submarine profiles and weaponry artworks and key clashes are brought to life in dramatic battlescenes Among the clashes covered are including USS Kearny vs U 568 USS Roper DD 147 vs U 85 USS Eugene E Elmore DE 686 vs U 549 and USS Atherton DE 169 vs U 853 MotorBoating ,1942-04 The Men Stephen Leal Jackson,2010 Submarine duty during World War II was one of the most statistically deadly physically demanding and emotionally challenging assignments in the U S Navy The boats had few crew comforts and war patrols typically thirty to sixty days in length were so exhausting that the submarine sailors often got a month of rest after each patrol What would motivate men to volunteer for this unmistakably difficult and dangerous job This is the question that The Men will answer using the oral histories of enlisted submarine veterans a collection of letters of one sailor who did not return and other primary sources These volunteers from diverse locales and backgrounds ignored the danger accepted the privations and exalted in the camaraderie Their excitement fear and humble heroism is captured in their own words the real story of the undersea war in the Pacific told by the men who fought it A veteran of the United States Navy Stephen Leal Jackson spent eight years in the submarine force serving on the USS Los Angeles SSN 688 and the USS Florida SSBN 728 Jackson s service included several Western Pacific cruises to the oceans lands and ports described in The Men A lifelong student of American history Jackson s ongoing research concentrates specifically on World Wars I and II Jackson received his Master of Arts in American History from Providence College and is currently in the Ph D program at Salve Regina University Jackson has served as the primary spokesperson for a major electrical utility on nuclear and environmental issues His unique perspective as a onetime navy enlisted submariner trained historian and skilled communicator allows Jackson to provide clear and easy access to the fascinating experiences of the men who fought the undersea battles during World War II The Stratigraphy and Archaeology of Ventana Cave, Arizona Emil Walter Haury,1975 Re edition with new Preface offering recent insights of the classic archaeological study which produced valuable findings on Hohokam perishable culture MotorBoating ,1942-04 Trapped at Pearl Harbor Stephen Young,2013-08-10 Author Stephen Young was a seaman first class assigned to gunnery duty in turret no 4 on the battleship Oklahoma when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor on December 7 1941 The battleship was struck by several torpedoes and began to sink trapping Young and others when it overturned With incredible realism Young recounts this terrifying experience recalling the frantic search for an escape route the horror of finding the exit blocked and such unforgettable detail as the water s inexorable rise the sickening taste of fuel oil the foul smell of the air the nervous wisecracks and finally the silence as the possibility of rescue became ever more remote The War of Words Molly Gupthill Manning,2023-09-26 From New York Times bestselling author Molly Gupthill Manning comes The War of Words the captivating story of how American troops in World War II wielded pens to tell their own stories as they made history At a time when civilian periodicals faced strict censorship US Army Chief of Staff George Marshall won the support of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt to create an expansive troop newspaper program Both Marshall and FDR recognized that there was a second struggle taking place outside the battlefields of World War II the war of words While Hitler inundated the globe with propaganda morale across the US Army dwindled As the Axis blurred the lines between truth and fiction the best defense was for American troops to bring the truth into focus by writing it down and disseminating it themselves By war s end over 4 600 unique GI publications had been printed around the world In newsprint troops made sense of their hardships losses and reasons for fighting These newspapers by and for the troops became the heart and soul of a unit From Normandy to the shores of Japan American soldiers exercised a level of free speech the military had never known nor would again It was an extraordinary chapter in American democracy and military history In the war for four freedoms it was remarkably fitting that troops fought not only with guns but with their pens This stunning volume includes fourteen pages of photographs and illustrations
