Thomas, Adam D.K. King, Andrew Jackson, 2025-05-30 Over the last several decades the workplace in Canada has experienced profound changes Work has become increasingly insecure for a growing number of workers and income inequality has deepened New technologies have reshaped labour processes and have enhanced elements of employer control over work and workers Entry into the labour market is itself a difficult process as young workers struggle to match qualifications and credentials with jobs while for many older workers retirement with a secure income is a diminishing prospect The demographic composition of the labour market is transforming yet this change is conditioned by longstanding patterns of inequality in terms of gender race disability and immigration status Work and Labour in Canada explores the changing world of work mapping out major trends and patterns that define working life and identifying the economic social and political factors that shape the contemporary workplace Evaluating working conditions and the quality of jobs from a critical perspective this text presents an analysis of recent trends in employment and unemployment as well as outlines the role and impact of unions and other workers organizations The fourth edition includes a new chapter on work and technology updated statistical data and additional content on the basic income debate labour and climate change and COVID 19 This thoroughly revised and updated edition is essential for teachers researchers labour activists and students of labour studies sociology political science political economy and economic geography programs Canadian Books in Print 2002 Marian

Butler, 2002-02 Dying and Death in Canada, Fourth Edition Herbert C. Northcott, Donna M. Wilson, 2021-11-01 Dying and Death in Canada provides a comprehensive up to date examination of dying death and bereavement from a Canadian perspective The fourth edition covers current issues and recent developments in the field such as the implementation of Medical Assistance in Dying MAID and the implications of the COVID 19 pandemic New topics include death doula death tourism psychogenic death bonds between the living and the dead mass death events and cultural diversity sensitivity and competence This edition combines current research and language used to destigmatize conversations surrounding suicide while new case studies offer personal accounts from doctors nurses and family members of the deceased Exploring the significance of end of life experiences Dying and Death in Canada shows that how we live influences how we die and the society and culture in which we live has a profound effect on how we behave when confronted with dying and death

Learning for Success Joan Fleet, Fiona Goodchild, Richard Zajchowski, 1999      Ww W/Rdrs 4e-Aie Sandra Scarry, John Scarry (Professor), 2001-06      Social Determinants of Health, Fourth Edition Dennis Raphael, 2025-01-06 Now in its fourth edition Dennis Raphael's Social Determinants of Health offers the definitive Canadian discussion of the primary factors that influence the health of Canada's population. This unique text on the social determinants of health contains contributions from top academics and high profile experts from across Canada. Taking a public policy approach the contributors to this edited collection critically analyze the structural inequalities embedded in our society and the socio-economic factors that affect health including income, education, employment, housing, food security, gender, and race. This new edition includes recent statistics, new developments in early childhood education and the implementation of Canada's national childcare system and new content on the social determinants of Indigenous Peoples' health. Particular attention is paid to how economic globalization and the acceptance of neoliberal governing ideology is shaping the health of Canadians. The COVID-19 epidemic vividly illustrated the importance of the social determinants of health as sickness and death rates were strikingly higher among Canadians in groups already experiencing adverse living and working conditions and poorer health: lower income Canadians, recent immigrants of colour, and those experiencing housing and food insecurity. If anything positive is to come out of this experience it will be recognition that in the current post COVID-19 environment it is essential to understand the socio-economic conditions that shape the health of individuals and communities. Social Determinants of Health, Fourth Edition is aimed at courses focusing on the social determinants of health at Canadian universities and colleges, particularly those in health studies and nursing, but also allied health, sociology and human services.

Reading and Writing in the Global Workplace Beatrice Quarshie Smith, 2012-06-14 Reading and Writing in the Global Workplace: Gender, Literacy and Outsourcing in Ghana by Beatrice Quarshie Smith explores the conditions that underlie the outsourcing of US data processing work in Ghana. Here Beatrice Quarshie Smith describes the convergence and interplay of at least four different socio-economic forces: 1) the digital and satellite technology enabling virtual environments for global outsourced data processing; 2) the historical development of Ghana as a politically stable Anglophone society with a relatively strong tradition of public education; 3) the neoliberal economic restructuring policies advanced by the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund; and 4) the ready availability of women seeking to enter the formal wage economy either to seek independence from their roles within traditional families or in order to support their families. The author's comparative study of two distinctly different workplaces reveals significant insights about problems of organizational hierarchy and management, employee relations in the cross-cultural environments of outsourced business and IT process work. Through extensive interviews the book sheds light on the educational backgrounds, day-to-day struggles, fears, and aspirations of the workers. Quarshie Smith develops this multi-faceted analysis with keen insights into the representational limitations and ethical responsibilities of the researcher This pioneering study about outsourced data processing work in West Africa opens up a new area for research and offers a fresh perspective from which to consider outsourcing in other regions of the globe
