Religion and Education Malini Sivasubramaniam, Ruth Hayhoe, 2018-01-01 Despite the increased trend towards secularisation in state schooling issues of religion and spirituality have remained important Increased pluralism within societies through expanding migration patterns is changing the religious and cultural contours of many countries in Europe and North America and is creating a need for a deeper understanding of religious diversity However the lack of religious or spiritual education within the educational curriculum leaves a moral vacuum that can become a space to be exploited by religious extremism More recently religiously motivated incidences of terrorism in several parts of the world have heightened prejudicial attitudes and distrust of certain religions in particular These are profound concerns and there is an urgency to examine how religion religious education and interfaith initiatives can address such misconceptions This book is thus timely focusing on an area that is often neglected particularly on the role of religion in education for sustainable development While religious organisations and faith communities have had a long history of involvement in both schooling and social service delivery in many countries their role in reaching development goals has not always been explicitly recognised as is evident even in the United Nations most recently conceptualised 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development Undeniably the integration of religious dialogue into mainstream development issues is crucial because deep cleavages resulting from the issue of minority religious rights continue to give cause for concern and conflict in many countries This edited book explores some of these tensions and issues and draws parallels across differing geographical contexts to help enhance our collective and comparative understanding of the role of religious education and institutions in advancing the post 2015 development agenda The contributors to this volume each demonstrate that while religion in education can contribute to understanding and respect it is also a space that can be contested and co opted Without addressing the salience of religion however it will not be possible to foster peace and combat discrimination and prejudice This book will be of interest to researchers scholars and students in the field of comparative education and development religious studies theology and teacher development and training This book may also be of interest to national and international policy makers There are also numerous faith based organisations as well as other non governmental organisations NGOs working on religion and education issues that may find these case studies a useful resource University on the Border Lis Lange,Vasu Reddy,Siseko H. Kumalo,2021-08-27 The volume explores and thinks through the process of decolonising the South African higher education system by examining MustFall The text offers theoretical insights from a historical contemporary and multidisciplinary lens while examining the embedded meanings of the university as an institution idea and set of practices to show the shifts and changes that were inaugurated by MustFall along with the historicities that define the university both locally and globally The retro and prospective insights presented in the book surface the crisis of authority that places the university in a state of precarity which is framed in the book as the border The volume proposes the concept of the border recognising its conceptual and analytical dynamism as a generative space that can facilitate new imaginaries and articulations of this social institution the university

Decolonisation after Democracy Laurence Piper,2020-05-21 Decolonisation after Democracy addresses the provocative idea that we need to rid higher education of lingering forms of colonial knowledge This matters because in the colonial era much knowledge was put to the service of subjugating indigenous peoples and the assumptions from this era may linger into the present Examples of deep rooted and foundational forms of knowledge that carry colonial traits are normative binaries such as civilised and backward modern and traditional and rational and superstitious In addition some accounts of positive values like freedom equality justice and democracy may hide the assumption that the western experience is the norm from which other kinds are rendered imitations deviations or pathologies In this collection some of South Africa's leading political scientists and academics engage with the challenge of decolonising knowledge in the research and teaching of politics It includes new insights about the state international relations clientelism statesociety relations and land reform and introduces new ways to engage the colonial library curriculum reform and the marginality of historically black institutions Finally the contributors deal with the decolonial challenge posed by the FeesMustFall student movements reflecting on issues of revolutionary politics and gender and sexual violence This book was originally published as a special issue of Politikon

Democracy, Diaspora, Territory Olga Oleinikova,Jumana Bayeh,2019-10-14 This volume offers a profoundly new interpretation of the impact of modern diasporas on democracy challenging the orthodox understanding that ties these two concepts to a bounded form of territory Considering democracy and diaspora through a deterritorialised lens it takes the post Euromaidan Ukraine as a central case study to show how modern diasporas are actively involved in shaping democracy from a distance and through their political activity are becoming increasingly democratised themselves An examination of how power sharing democracies function beyond the territorial state Democracy Diaspora Territory Europe and Cross Border Politics compels us to reassess what we mean by democracy and diaspora today and why we need to focus on the deterritorialised dimensions of these phenomena if we are to adequately address the crises confronting numerous democracies As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology and politics with interests in migration and diaspora political theory citizenship and democracy

In Different Times Ian van der Waag, Albert Grundlingh, 2019-11-15 This is the first attempt to bring together diverse scholars using different lenses to study South Africa's Border War As a book it is critical in approach provides deeper reflection and focuses specifically on the SADF experience of the war The result is a more complex picture of the war's dynamics and its legacies Although South Africa is a vastly different country today the study of the Border War opens a range of questions also relevant to contemporary deployments such as in Lesotho 1998 and the Central African Republic 2013 It includes the debate on participation in foreign conflicts on the deployment design and preparation of appropriate modern armed forces and their use as foreign policy instruments in far-off theatres on military planning and as the historical controversies regarding the battles at Cuito Cuanavale and Bangui illustrate on the interface between foreign campaigning and domestic politics
