Commercial Law Reports 2016, 2016-12-31 Commercial law judgments South Africa The Vaal Uprising of 1984 & the Struggle for Freedom in South Africa Franziska Rueedi, 2021 Offers new insights into the struggle against Apartheid and the poverty and inequality that instigated political resistance Farmer's Weekly, 1928 Microstructural Geochronology Desmond E. Moser, Fernando Corfu, James R. Darling, Steven M. Reddy, Kimberly Tait, 2017-12-26

Microstructural Geochronology Geochronology techniques enable the study of geological evolution and environmental change over time This volume integrates two aspects of geochronology one based on classical methods of orientation and spatial patterns and the other on ratios of radioactive isotopes and their decay products The chapters illustrate how material science techniques are taking this field to the atomic scale enabling us to image the chemical and structural record of mineral lattice growth and deformation and sometimes the patterns of radioactive parent and daughter atoms themselves to generate a microstructural geochronology from some of the most resilient materials in the solar system First compilation of research focusing on the crystal structure material properties and chemical zoning of the geochronology mineral archive down to nanoscale Novel comparisons of mineral time archives from different rocky planets and asteroids and their shock metamorphic histories Fundamentals on how to reconstruct and date radiogenic isotope distributions using atom probe tomography Microstructural Geochronology will be a valuable resource for graduate students academics and researchers in the fields of petrology geochronology mineralogy geochemistry planetary geology astrobiology chemistry and material science It will also appeal to philosophers and historians of science from other disciplines Afrotropical Streams and Rivers Tatenda Dalu, Frank Masese, 2024-11-09 The Afrotropical Streams and Rivers Structure Ecological Processes and Management is a comprehensive guide that provides assessment of major rivers and tributaries in Africa Unlike other books available the editors present a thorough study of geomorphological hydrological biological and ecological processes incorporating a range of plant and animal communities while considering implications of human communities that depend upon them This book edited by a diverse cohort of researchers and or scholars is intended as an educational and practical guide for graduate students researchers and scientists who focus on the biodiversity conservation and management policy issues of the African river systems Provides a comprehensive introduction to African freshwater rivers their biota and abiotic processes Contains unique case studies on African streams and rivers Organised around an interdisciplinary approach that covers the complex aspects of conservation and management of African river systems on the continent Global-Regional Linkages in the Earth System Peter D. Tyson, Roland Fuchs, Congbin Fu, Louis Lebel, Hermine Vloemans, Eric Odada, John Perry, Will Steffen, Hassan Virji, 2002-04-30 Global environmental change occupies a central niche in the pantheon of modern sciences There is an urgent need to know and understand the way in which global biogeochemical cycles have changed over different time scales in the past and are likely to do so in the future Equally important it is necessary to determine the extent to which natural variability and that induced by anthropogenic activities are bringing about change. A number of international co-operative scientific programmes address these issues. Chief among them are the International Geosphere Biosphere Programme (IGBP), the World Climate Research Programme (WCRP) and the International Human Dimensions Programme (IHDP) for global change. This book is one of a series of IGBP syntheses drawing together findings in global environmental change over the past decade or so. One focus of IGBP activities is the System for Analysis Research and Training (START), co-sponsored by the WCRP and IHDP. START establishes regional research networks for global change science in developing countries, stimulates and carries out global change research in developing regions of the world and builds capacity to undertake such research at personal, institutional and regional levels. Several regional global change networks have been established and much regional research has been accomplished in the last five years or so. In this book, work relating to four of the older START regions—Southern Africa, South Asia, Southeast Asia and East Asia—will be used as case studies to illustrate regional global linkages in Earth System Science.

State-of-the-Art of Mathematical Modeling, Dynamics, and Control of Wind Turbines Engineering José M. Balthazar, Ângelo M. Tusset, Clivaldo de Oliveira, Raphaela Carvalho Machado, 2025-02-12. This book provides a comprehensive overview of wind turbines and their applications to engineering. It includes five chapters in two sections: a discussion of mathematical models and an analysis of wind turbine dynamics. The themes of the chapters include offshore wind turbine modeling, wind power plant frequency stability control schemes, optimization algorithms, 3D modeling of a three-piece wind turbine using CATIA and its preparation for 3D printing and monitoring the geotechnical monopile bending moment and natural frequency.

Social Constructions of Water Quality in South Africa Suvania Naidoo, 2022-05-04. This book details how the water quality of the Blesbokspruit River in Gauteng, South Africa, was socially constructed by stakeholders and key individuals in the context of acid mine drainage (AMD) and its treatment. Social constructionism is used as the framing for this research to explain how water is intrinsically social. Findings presented here show that stakeholders are aware that the changes in the physicality of the Blesbokspruit resulted from human interventions and varied uses of the water over the years. Such knowledge among factors such as the historical context of mining, current coal mining flows and volumes of water technology used and processes followed, information and communication and vested interests influence social constructions of the water quality. What counts as the truth about water varies depending on the individual's perspective, their purpose and their individual interests. Further, how one defines water quality influences what treatment processes are preferred in order to improve water quality. The book explains why, for example, a treatment process meant to improve water quality gained a bad reputation by the public because of the South African government's silo approach. The book explains how these social constructions are entrenched in power relations between stakeholders regarding AMD treatment and illustrates how power was used to influence decisions to improve the water quality of the Blesbokspruit. The case presented in this book offers insights and recommendations for policymakers.

working in water governance including means to influence social constructions of water quality and ways to clarify roles and responsibilities in pursuit of improved cooperative government construct strongly rooted and still predominantly studied in Western or WEIRD Western educated industrialized rich and democratic contexts e.g. North American and Western European. Only recently has there been more of a conscious effort to study identity in non-Western or non-WEIRD contexts. This edited volume investigates identity from primarily a non-Western perspective by studying non-Western contexts and non-Western minority or immigrant groups living in Western contexts. The contributions a) examine different aspects of identity e.g. personal identity, social identity, online identity as either independent or interrelated constructs; b) consider the associations of these constructs with aspects of intergroup relations, acculturative processes and/or psychological well-being; c) document the advancement in research on identity in underrepresented groups, contexts and regions such as Africa, Asia, Eastern Europe, the Middle East and South America; and d) evaluate different approaches to the study of identity and the implications thereof. This book is intended for cultural or cross-cultural academics, practitioners, educators, social workers, postgraduate students, undergraduate students and scholars interested in studying identity. It provides insight into how identity in non-Western groups and contexts may both be informed by and may inform Western theoretical perspectives.

Trade Unions and the Age of Information and Communication Technologies in Kenya Eric E. Otenyo, 2017-03-01. Trade Unions and the Age of Information and Communication Technologies in Kenya provides a comprehensive description of the use of ICTs within the trade union movement in Kenya. In this book Professor Eric Otenyo explores the intersection between new technologies and union as key stakeholders in national governance and development. The dearth of research on how trade unions can play a part in the new economy continues to undermine the effective use of ICTs in development. This book brings to light the challenges that unions face while navigating the new economy and netstate characterized by a proliferation of ICTs and globalization.
