The major structures of the cardiovascular system, the heart and blood vessels, play a vital role in human physiology. The major function of the cardiovascular system is transportation. Using blood as the transport vehicle, the system carries nutrients, gases, wastes, antibodies, electrolytes, and many other substances to and from body cells. Its propulsive force is the contracting heart.

The anatomy and location of the heart and blood vessels and the important understandings of cardiovascular physiology (for example, cardiac cycle, ECG, and regulation of blood pressure) are the major topics of this chapter.
