The Case Of The Fatal Fiddle:

The Case of the Fatal Fiddle John Osipowicz, 2018-05-15 The Case of the Fatal Fiddle Mystery Novel 103 110 words We all fade like a leaf And our iniquities Like the wind Take us away Isaiah 64 6 Thomas Jefferson once had a violin in fact three of them No one knows where any of them disappeared to Until now that is when one of them appeared in the trash in Philadelphia Pennsylvania and was scooped up by a homeless man living in a box He gave it to a young kid who sold it to a train ticket taker And so began the journey of the Amati violin made in Cremona Italy in the 17th century Young rookie cop Mitch Carter is assigned the case of the murdered homeless man Willie Ridge Why kill a man who lives in a packing carton Well someone did and Mitch begins his quest for the killer which eventually leads him to Charlottesville Virginia and Monticello the home of our esteemed third President There are plenty of suspects some of whom are descendants of Sally Hemings who definitely had a most friendly relationship with Jefferson Museum curators want the violin and so does the mayor of Charlottesville and the president of the University of Virginia Even people without prestigious titles seek it once they find out it is worth millions Mitch is in the middle of all this which culminates in a dive off a bridge Can you hear the music John Osipowicz Bio As a youth reading was my passion Because of my love for literature I guess it was natural that I would gravitate to teaching English I was married while I was in college and for financial reasons I sidetracked my teaching desire for a bit to go into advertising with the Chicago Tribune There was some creativity possible there but after a few months I was counting the bumps on the road as I traveled from client to client An opportunity opened up at my old high school in Madison Wisconsin to teach This was a long time ago Being a full time teacher baseball coach and yearbook adviser I made the enormous salary of 5000 With one daughter already born and two more on the way for the next six years we barely survived financially Still feeling the pinch monetarily I decide to take a business venture to Philadelphia selling yearbooks For one year as I sat in school offices waiting to talk to Principals I discovered I was paying attention much more to the students than my sales pitch So back I went into teaching and stayed there for the next thirty four years I knew now I was in the right field When I retired after forty total years in teaching I looked forward to freedom from getting up each morning at five A M However that freedom came with a price boredom There was only so much TV I could watch I decided to take up writing and I've been doing that ever since The only real tragedy in my life is that two years ago our dog of seventeen years died As people have told me the memory of a loved one never dies and I have found this to be true Cassandra is still alive in my brain However our cat Hazel at fourteen is still going strong We I have overfed her and truthfully when she goes outside she has been mistaken for a raccoon We currently live in the Philadelphia countryside across from a horse farm
