A User's Guide to the Crisis of Civilization Nafeez Mosaddeq Ahmed, 2010-08-06 It often seems that different crises are competing to devastate civilisation This book argues that financial meltdown dwindling oil reserves terrorism and food shortages need to be considered as part of the same ailing system Most accounts of our contemporary global crises focus on one area such as climate change or the threat of terrorism to the exclusion of others Nafeez Mosaddeq Ahmed argues that the unwillingness of experts to consider crises from an interdisciplinary perspective has resulted in their failure to understand historical events From ecology and the environment to political governance the global economy and international relations Ahmed investigates contemporary crises not as isolated events but as trends and processes that belong to a single global system Ahmed posits that we are therefore not dealing with a clash of civilisations as Samuel P Huntington argued Rather we are dealing with a fundamental crisis of civilisation itself

Counterculture Green Andrew G. Kirk, 2007 For many it was more than a publication it was a way of life The Whole Earth Catalog billed itself as Access to Tools and it grew from a Bay Area blip to a national phenomenon catering to hippies do it yourselfers and anyone interested in self sufficiency independent of mainstream America now known as living off the grid In recovering the history of the Catalog's unique brand of environmentalism historian Kirk recounts how Stewart Brand and the Point Foundation promoted a philosophy of pragmatic environmentalism that celebrated technological achievement human ingenuity and sustainable living Kirk shows us that Whole Earth was more than a mere counterculture fad At a time when many of these ideas were seen as heretical to a predominantly wilderness based movement it became a critical forum for environmental alternatives and a model for how complicated ecological ideas could be presented in a hopeful and even humorous way From publisher description
