The South African Higher Education Transformation Journey Grace Khunou, Nompumelelo Radebe, 2025-09-30 This book explores the transformation of the South African higher education system 30 years after democracy. It examines the progress, tensions, and possibilities through a detailed analysis of how inclusion, curriculum transformation, and epistemological shifts have shaped and continue to shape South African higher education. The chapters draw on a range of theoretical frameworks including decolonization, Africanization, and intersectionality. The book argues that while the South African higher education system has made significant strides in expanding access and fostering critical engagement, the journey toward full transformation remains an ongoing endeavor. The conclusions reached in the book suggest that deep inclusion, meaningful curriculum transformation, and epistemic justice require sustained institutional commitment, policy alignment, and active engagement with students, academics, and society at large. Uprooting University Apartheid in South Africa Teresa A. Barnes, 2018-12-07 South Africa continues to be an object of fascination for people everywhere interested in social justice issues, postcolonial studies, and critical race theory, as manifested by the enormous worldwide attention given to the Rhodes Must Fall movement. In this book, Teresa Barnes examines universities' complex positioning in the apartheid era and argues that tracing the institutional legacies left by pro-apartheid intellectuals are crucial to understanding the fight to transform South African higher education. A work of interpretive social history, this book investigates three historical dynamics in the relationship between the apartheid system and South African higher education. First, it explores how the legitimacy of apartheid was historically reproduced in public higher education. Second, it looks at ways that academics maneuvered through and influenced national and international discourses of political freedom and legitimacy. Third, it explores how and where stubborn tendrils of apartheid-era knowledge production practices survived into and have been combatted during the democratic era in South African universities. Places of Privilege, 2018-07-19 Places of Privilege examines dynamics of privilege and power in the construction of place in a period of the rapid social transformation of places, borders, and boundaries. Drawing on interdisciplinary perspectives, the book examines place as a site for the making and re-making of privilege while considering new meanings of community and examining spaces for cultural identity and resistance. Chapters point to a range of conceptual resources that can be utilised to produce critical analyses of place-making. As the authors point out, power and privilege shape place, but these dynamics are in turn shaped by the specific place-based histories and social dynamics within which they are located. Contributors are Lutfiye Ali, Alison M. Baker, Paola Bilbrough, Tony Birch, Jora Broerse, Sally Clark, Josephine Cornell, Yon Hsu, Lou Iaquinto, Karen Jackson, Shose Kessi, Rebecca Lyons, Chris McConville, Nicole Oke, Amy Quayle, Alexandra Ramirez, Kopano Ratele, Christopher C. Who Cares About Education? Eric Macfarlane, 2016-11-30 We all have opinions on education but how far do we understand the powerful forces that shape the learning experiences of our children and young people Eric Macfarlane takes a critical look at the traditions government policies and individual ideologies that currently determine priorities in our schools colleges and universities His disturbing conclusion is that we are fast losing sight of the basic principles that underpin effective learning and teaching Who Cares About Education is a call for concerted action from all who share an interest in young people and the way in which we prepare them for adulthood This wise book will speak to a wide range of audiences and prove an important resource for a generation of teachers parents and young people who sense that something has gone very wrong in today's system Melissa Benn Eric Macfarlane has a real gut feeling for what education should be about At a time when discussion is mainly about exam results and giving schools new titles he provides a forceful reminder of what really matters in educating our young people Chris Green MBE Education remains political dynamite with teaching professionalism and autonomy constantly undermined and school leaders flung aside like football managers in a bad season That's why we need books like Eric Macfarlane's restoring perspective channelling rage providing historical context and voicing solutions It's a book for all who care about real education Geoff Barton Eric Macfarlane shares his passion for a broad and balanced curriculum and emphasises the enormous benefits of the arts as a serious part of every child's education and well-being. His book will empower us to ensure accessibility to the arts for future generations. Dame Evelyn Glennie, Eric Macfarlane has taught in and been head of both secondary modern and grammar schools. He was the founding principal of Queen Mary's College, one of Hampshire's pioneering 16 comprehensive colleges and has been an LEA adviser, examiner and assessor of several different initiatives to improve the learning and teaching processes in both schools and universities. Whilst Principal of Queen Mary's College, he was seconded to Keble College for a year to assist with the Oxford Department of Education's introduction of a school-based teacher training course. He worked at the University of Surrey and Birkbeck College promoting the Enterprise in Higher Education initiative before becoming academic staff adviser in University College London. Eric has had a long association with out-of-school learning initiatives and was chair of the Governing Council of the Active Training and Education Trust. He received the OBE in the Queen's Birthday Honours List in 1988. Applying

Critical Mathematics Education, 2021-07-05 There is no shortage of urgent complex problems that mathematics education can and should engage with. Pandemics, forest fires, pollution, Black Lives Matter protests and fake news all involve mathematics. Matters of life and death have a clear political dimension and are interdisciplinary in nature. They demand a critical approach. The authors in this volume showcase new insights, teaching ideas and new and unique ways of applying critical mathematics education in areas as diverse as climate change, obesity, decolonisation and ethnomathematics. This book demonstrates that there is plenty to be done with critical mathematics education. Contributors are Annica Andersson, Tonya Gau, Bartell Richard, Barwell Lisa, Lunney Borden, Sunghwan Byun, Anna Chronaki, Brian Greer, Jennifer Hall, Victoria Hand, Kjellrun Hiis Hauge, Beth Herbel, Eisenmann Rune, Herheim Courtney, Koestler Kate, le Roux Swapna, Mukhopadhyay Aldo, Parra Anita, Rampal Sheena, Rughubar Reddy, Toril Eskeland, Rangnes Ulrika, Ryan Lisa, Steffensen Paola, Valero and David Wagner. Student Resistance to Apartheid at the University of Fort Hare, Rico Devara Chapman, 2016-05-12 The book explores forms of popular student resistance to apartheid education in South Africa, particularly at the University of Fort Hare (UFH), by tracing student activism at UFH from 1970 to 2000, highlighting the factors that influenced the development of a culture of student resistance, investigating the root causes that made Fort Hare exceptional in its stand against apartheid and chronicling the educational and social implications that resulted from students' unparalleled and fearless actions against the apartheid system. Student resistance at Fort Hare can be traced as far back as the 1940s; however, this book will primarily focus on the critical 1970-2000 period, which was marked by increased student activism in South Africa. The 1980s and 1990s were peak years for student activism in the country. There is no doubt that student struggles during this period and thereafter helped dismantle apartheid and usher in a new South African government. Recalibrating teacher training in African higher education institutions, Sifiso Sibanda, Gideon (Deon) P. van Tonder, Washington T. Dudu, 2023-03-01 This book critically examines the role of governments in promoting parity during and in post-pandemic education. This comes from the realisation that the pandemic has deepened the crisis by depleting the meagre resources that African countries might have devoted to normative educational practices where those on the margins would have been pushed further behind while the privileged would have been further initiated into the cultural and capital flows of private schools and historically research intensive institutions of higher learning This has far reaching implications for the education of underprivileged citizens and education particularly modes and modalities of delivery has to be reimaged to subvert the challenges wrought by the pandemic This book significantly bridges the gap between the pre and post COVID 19 pandemic pedagogical practices and the erstwhile modalities that have been resilient over time The book focuses on ways to stave off pedagogical challenges that face countries as the global pandemic makes its mark Higher Education - Reflections From the Field - Volume 1

,2023-11-02 COVID wrought havoc on the world s economic systems Higher education did not escape the ravages brought on by the pandemic as institutions of higher education around the world faced major upheavals in their educational delivery systems Some institutions were prepared for the required transition to online learning Most were not Whether prepared or not educators rose to the challenge The innovativeness of educators met the challenges as digital learning replaced the face to face environment In fact some of the distance models proved so engaging that many students no longer desire a return to the face to face model As with all transitions some things were lost while others were gained This book examines practice in the field as institutions struggled to face the worst global pandemic in the last century The book is organized into four sections on The Perspectives of Higher Education COVID as a Catalyst for Change Embracing Online Learning as a Response to COVID and Post Covid The Way Forward It presents various perspectives from educators around the world to illustrate the struggles and triumphs of those facing new challenges and implementing new ideas to empower the educational process These discussions shed light on the impact of the pandemic and the future of higher education post COVID Higher education has been forever changed and higher education as it once was may never return While many questions arise the achievements in meeting and overcoming the pandemic illustrate the creativity and innovativeness of educators around the world who inspired future generations of learners to reach new heights of accomplishment even in the face of the pandemic
