

University of Michigan Supplemental Essay

Prompt:

How would you describe your grandfather?

I consider my grandfather as a redneck. I call him that because I notice that he is very critical when it comes to the actions of others. He also lives a very unconventional lifestyle. He wants that other people also lives the way that he does. For this reason, I found it very hard at first to connect with him personally.

My grandfather lives in a small fishing village. He lives as a fisherman. My father wanted him to live with us in the city, but he stubbornly refuses to do so, saying that he is healthier than us because of the place where he is living. He is a fishing master, entering tournaments all across the country, winning awards along the way.

He hoped that his only child, my mother, would follow his footsteps. Unfortunately, my mother had no interest in the things he liked. She was more like my grandmother. However, rather than a stay at home girl, she did her best to go to college, choosing an engineering career. Imagine the shock that my grandfather had when my mother chose to leave home to go to college.

I am the only boy grandchild, as I have three other sisters. There were high expectations everytime we go visit him. He wanted me to become just like him. However, I am a pure city kid, who is not interested in fishing. He wanted me to take a course in marine biology in college, but I wanted to take medicine. My grandfather is a very hard person to please. However, he is a very loving person. One time I was sick while visiting him. He never left my side, nor took a nap the entire night while watching over me. I love him dearly for that.

The Transformation of Citizenship, Volume 1 Juergen

Mackert, Bryan S. Turner, 2017-03-16 The Transformation of Citizenship addresses the basic question of how we can make sense of citizenship in the twenty first century These volumes make a strong plea for a reorientation of the sociology of citizenship and address serious threats of an ongoing erosion of citizenship rights Arguing from different scientific perspectives rather than offering new conceptions of citizenship as supposedly more adequate models of rights membership and belonging they deal with both the ways citizenship is transformed and the ways it operates in the face of fundamentally transformed conditions This volume Political Economy discusses manifold consequences of a decades long enforcement of neo liberalism for the rights of citizens As neo liberalism not only means a new form of economic system it has to be conceived of as an entirely new form of global regional and national governance that radically transforms economic political and social relations in society Its consequences for citizenship as a social institution are no less than dramatic Against the background of both manifest and ideological processes the book looks at if citizenship has lost the basis it has rested upon for decades or if the institution itself is in a process of being fundamentally transformed and restructured thereby changing its meaning and the significance of citizens rights This book will appeal to academics working in the field of political theory political sociology and European studies

Trust and Happiness in the History of European Political Thought Laszlo Kontler, Mark Somos, 2017-09-25 The notions of happiness and trust as cements of the social fabric and political legitimacy have a long history in Western political thought However despite the great contemporary relevance of both subjects and burgeoning literatures in the social sciences around them historians and historians of thought have with some exceptions unduly neglected them In Trust and Happiness in the History of European Political Thought editors Laszlo Kontler and Mark Somos bring together twenty scholars from different generations and academic traditions to redress this lacuna by contextualising historically the discussion of these two notions from ancient Greece to Soviet Russia Confronting this legacy and deep reservoir of thought will serve as a tool of optimising the terms of current debates Contributors are Erica Benner Hans W Blom Niall Bond Alberto Clerici Cesare Cuttica John Dunn Ralf Peter Fuchs G bor G ng Steven Johnstone Laszlo Kontler Sara Lagi Adriana Luna Fabritius Adrian O Connor Eva Odzuck K lm n P cza Vladimir Ryzhkov Peter Schr der Petra Schulte Mark Somos Alexey Tikhomirov Bee Yun and Hannes Ziegler

A Companion to the Translation of Classical Epic Richard Armstrong, Alexandra Lianeri, 2025-04-01 The first volume of its kind to integrate trends in Translation Studies with Classical Reception Studies A Companion to the Translation of Classical Epic provides a comprehensive and wide ranging account of key debates and case studies centered the translation of Greek and Latin epics Rather than situating translation studies as a complementary field or an aspect of classical reception the Companion offers a systematic framework for adapting and incorporating translation studies fully into classical studies Its many chapters elaborate how translation is a central element in the epic s reception trajectories across the globe and addresses theoretical and methodological concerns arising from this conjunction The Companion does not just provide a comprehensive overview of the translation theories it covers but also offers fresh insights into theoretical and methodological issues currently at the top of the interdisciplinary agenda of scholars studying the global routes of ancient epic In its sections leading classicists translation theorists classical reception scholars and cultural historians from Europe and North and South America reconfigure questions this research faces today highlighting methods for an integrated approach It explores how this integrated perspective responds to key challenges in the study of the epic s reception emphasizing topics of temporality gender agency community target language politics and material production A special section also features detailed dialogues with active translators such as Emily Wilson Stanley Lombardo and Susanna Braund who speak extensively and frankly about their work This is a key volume for all students and scholars who want to engage with research reflecting the contemporary agenda in classical reception translation studies and the study of epic in its global literary and cultural routes
