Down to Earth Bruno Latour, 2018-11-26 The present ecological mutation has organized the whole political landscape for the last thirty years This could explain the deadly cocktail of exploding inequalities massive deregulation and conversion of the dream of globalization into a nightmare for most people What holds these three phenomena together is the conviction shared by some powerful people that the ecological threat is real and that the only way for them to survive is to abandon any pretense at sharing a common future with the rest of the world Hence their flight offshore and their massive investment in climate change denial The Left has been slow to turn its attention to this new situation It is still organized along an axis that goes from investment in local values to the hope of globalization and just at the time when everywhere people dissatisfied with the ideal of modernity are turning back to the protection of national or even ethnic borders This is why it is urgent to shift sideways and to define politics as what leads toward the Earth and not toward the global or the national Belonging to a territory is the phenomenon most in need of rethinking and careful redescription learning new ways to inhabit the Earth is our biggest challenge Bringing us down to earth is the task of politics today

Down to Earth Richard Floyd, 2015-08-18 In the face of climate change and ecological diminishment how can we hope that creation itself good and beautiful marked by tragedy and chaos is taken up rather than left behind Can a Christian vision which has at times been drunk on eschatological dreams or nightmares that consign this world and most of its creatures to destruction foster an earthly hope Jurgen Moltmann and Sallie McFague offer two contemporary possibilities for an ecological eschatology Floyd critiques both of these theological visions and traces an alternative that is both humble grounded in the humus the dirt and hopeful grounded in divine creativity arguing that a down to earth hope is grounded finally in beauty the beauty of the other that draws out the self the beauty of the redeemed self coming out to meet the other and the beauty of God that lures forth
