University Prospectus for 2016:

The Evolution of Human Wisdom Celia Deane-Drummond, Agustín Fuentes, 2017-10-18 This volume addresses key questions about the puzzle of human origins by focusing on a topic that is largely unexplored thus far namely the evolution of human wisdom How can we best understand the human capacity for wisdom where did it come from and how did it emerge It explores lines of convergence and divergence between Christian theology and evolutionary anthropology in its search to identify different aspects of wisdom Critical to this discussion are the philosophical difficulties that arise when two very different methodological approaches to the manner of humans becoming wise are brought together The relative importance and significance of human language is another area of intense debate in defining the meaning of wisdom and its expression How far and to what extent does a theologically informed wisdom discourse push evolutionary anthropology to formulate new questions and vice versa This volume shows that there is no simple consonance between evolutionary anthropology and theology Yet each discipline has much to learn from the other the authors are in agreement that even in the midst of an awareness of dissonance and some tension there can still be mutual respect The goal of this book is to begin to develop a trans disciplinary approach to the evolution of human wisdom where each discipline is challenged to ask questions in a new way This volume tackles the relationship between theology and science in a fresh way by focusing on a specific theme wisdom that is equally generative for both theology and evolutionary anthropology

The Future of University Education Michał Izak, Monika Kostera, Michał Zawadzki, 2017-04-26 This collected volume of essays offers glimpses of the future of university education While universities consider the spirit of theoretical exchange and intellectual pursuit to be a defining trait of their identity this book argues that this heritage is disappearing under the influence of the short term demands of societies and markets Universities used to be sites of dissent civil courage and societal conscience but have now instead become little more than pseudo businesses rendering them incapable of remaining critical or independent However with more people going to university every year there is a strong resistance to the notion that the university as a collegial and critical institution is dead among academics as well as the broader public With contributions from scholars across the world this edited collection explores the ramifications of marketization on universities and provides glimpses of what higher education will look like in the future It will be of great interest to teachers and students in higher education as well as policy makers and those interested in the current and future state of higher education

University Community Engagement and Lifelong Learning Julia Preece, 2017-07-13 This book offers a conceptual re think of how university community engagement functions as a lifelong learning resource for communities While having a specific focus on the South African context it has important implications for other universities which are concerned with their communities and makes a compelling argument for the university as a public good in spite of current trends towards marketization and commodification of higher education The book draws on a theoretical framework of capabilities asset based community development and the adult learning concept of dialogue to propose a model whereby the boundary walls of the university become metaphorically porous so that community members feel free to interact with the university as equal members of society A historical outline of African universities is provided as well as an exploration of the evolution of terms for community engagement service learning and learning cities and an examination of the policy and practice implications for the ideological model of a porous university

Teaching the Discipline of History in an Age of Standards Jennifer Clark,Adele Nye,2018-06-08 This book discusses the discipline standards of History in Australian universities in order to help historians understand the Threshold Learning Outcomes and to assist in their practical application It is divided into two sections The first offers a scholarly exploration of contemporary issues in history teaching while the second section discusses each of the Threshold Learning Outcomes and provides real world examples of quality pedagogical practice Although the book focuses on the discipline of history in Australia other subjects and other countries are facing the same dilemmas As such it includes chapters that address the international context and bring an international perspective to the engagement with discipline standards The innovation and leadership of this scholarly community represents a new stage in the transformation and renewal of history teaching EAI International Conference on Technology, Innovation, Entrepreneurship and Education Angelica Reyes-Munoz,Ping Zheng,David Crawford,Victor Callaghan,2019-03-15 This book presents the proceedings of the 1st EAI International Conference on Technology Innovation Entrepreneurship and Education TIE 2017 which took place at Canterbury Christ Church University on September 11 12 2017 The central theme of the conference is creativity and innovation especially in relation to technology business education social and political needs that make modern society flourish The proceedings feature papers from a cross disciplinary audience that explore the process of creativity and innovation The goal is that the various disciplines can learn from each other and see how they might benefit from the cross fertilization of practices

Political Science at the LSE Cheryl Schonhardt-Bailey, Gordon Bannerman, 2021-09-13 This monograph traces the emergence and evolution of the LSE Government Department from 1895 to 2020 focusing on the personalities that guided the development of the Department the social and political contexts the Department existed within its research agenda and course structure and the location of the Department in British politics It also charts the evolution of the discipline of political science in Britain itself The volume is divided chronologically into four chapters each covering roughly similar time periods in the Department s history and focuses on the events that shaped it personalities events and location Key themes are the development of political science in Britain the impact of location on the LSE Government Department the professionalisation of academia in Britain and the microcosm the Department presents of British political life during each time period The conflicts between progressive and conservative forces are a recurring theme which helps link the internal dynamics of the Department with the wider social and political contexts that occurred from the beginning of the School to its 125th anniversary The volume uses detailed archival research particularly in the early chapters as well as over thirty interviews with a range of individuals with unique perspectives on the Department These include current and former faculty and students ranging from academics such as Christopher Hood Anne Phillips and Tony Travers to graduates who have subsequently become politicians such as Anneliese Dodds former UK Shadow Chancellor of the Exchequer and Kennedy Stewart and Michael Fougere both mayors in Canada as well as others with strong links to the Department such as Meghnad Baron Desai and Professors Tim Besley and Nick Barr This monograph offers a wealth of insights on the history of political science not only at the LSE but in British academia more broadly It speaks to a wide historical and social science audience concerned with Fabian and socialist history the history of politics and education and the development of British political science Of course it also offers appeal to more immediate audiences such as prospective and current students alumni and others throughout the wider LSE community As a history of the LSE as well as of the development of British higher education it serves as both a specific case study and a general representative of wider trends within universities during the twentieth and early twentieth first centuries A unique feature of this monograph is that it represents the collective efforts of students from the LSE Government Department including undergraduate MSc and PhD who worked under the leadership of Professor Cheryl Schonhardt Bailey Head of Government Department and Dr Gordon Bannerman British Historian This collaboration has enabled a rich array of perspectives on the history of the Department but has also brought the monograph to life with personal ties to the Department itself

Halvorsen: Sharing Knowledge, Transforming Societi ,2023-01-10 In June 2016 the Norwegian Programme for Capacity Development in Higher Education and Research for Development Norhed hosted a conference on the theme of knowledge for development in an attempt to shift the focus of the programme towards its academic content This book follows up on that event The conference highlighted the usefulness of presenting the value of Norhed s different projects to the world showing how they improve knowledge and expand access to it through co operation A wish for more meta knowledge was also expressed and this gives rise to the following questions Is this way of co operating contributing to the growth of independent post colonial knowledge production in the South based on analyses of local data and experiences in ways that are relevant to our shared future Does the growth of academic independence as well as greater equality and the ability to develop theories different to those imposed by the better off parts of the world give rise to deeper understandings and better explanations Does it at least spread the ability to translate existing methodologies in ways that add meaning to observations of local context and data and thus enhance the relevance and influence of the academic profession locally and internationally This book in its varied contributions does not provide definite answers to these questions but it does show that Norhed is a step in the right direction Norhed is an attempt to fund collaboration within and between higher education institutions We know that both the uniqueness of this programme and ideas of how to better utilise the learning and experience emerging from it call for more elaboration and broader dissemination before we can offer further guidance on how to do things better This book is a first attempt
