University Of Johannesburg 2014 Intake:

The Future of Higher Education in the Middle East and Africa Habib M. Fardoun, Kevin J. Downing, Mandy Mok, 2018-03-26 This book addresses some of the challenges posed by the globalization of higher education. It examines the emergence and resulting challenges of English as Lingua Franca (ELF) and of the decision to use English as the Medium of Instruction (EMI) as part of a strategic policy of internationalization. It looks at survival challenges caused by globalization and expansion, the diversity challenge, the concept of marginality and how marginality can lead to creativity, teaching and encouraging entrepreneurialism, the tools needed for internationalizing higher education in developing countries, innovative approaches, the intelligent use of technology and finally the value of non-constraint engagement in driving teaching and course quality improvements. The expansion of higher education and the increasingly international body of students and staff continue to inspire and drive the development of global higher education systems. Whilst these systems began locally, many are now engaging with the challenges of retaining their local flavour whilst embracing the march of globalisation. The challenge is to find local solutions that also meet the requirements of the rapid development of what might be termed the massification of international higher education. This book reflects these contemporary challenges through its variety of topics taken from countries as diverse as Hong Kong, Panama, South Africa, USA and Saudi Arabia. The topics are as diverse as some of the local solutions, but each chapter represents a response to a rapidly changing global landscape.

Handbook of Research on Resource Management and the Struggle for Water Sustainability in Africa Nojiyeza, Innocent Simphiwe, Mtapuri, Oliver, Bazaanah, Prosper, Netshiozwi, Edzisani Ellen, 2022-01-28 Access to water and sanitation remains a critical challenge in various countries in Africa. The crisis remains the crisis of governance rather than the physical and economic scarcity. In most countries, water is realized as a human right and subsidies are provided for the indigent households. The tricky issue in rural areas remains an issue of access that is often linked to willingness and ability to pay for the installation and daily consumption. The Handbook of Research on Resource Management and the Struggle for Water Sustainability in Africa presents practical examples of integrated water resources management (IWRM) implementation in African countries. It further addresses the contemporary issues of alternative energy as part of climate change mitigation and utilizes case studies to examine how communities adapt to climate change. Covering topics such as climate justice, ecological governance and political ecology, this major reference work is a dynamic resource for government officials, sociologists, climate scientists, activists, students and educators of higher education, academicians and researchers in the fields of social sciences, government, developmental studies, international relations and political science.

Mycotoxins Patrick Berka Njobeh, Francois Stepman, 2019-08-28 This Edited Volume Mycotoxins: Impact and Management Strategies is a collection of reviewed and relevant research chapters offering a comprehensive overview of recent developments in the field of Mycotoxicology. The book comprises of single chapters authored by various researchers and edited by an expert active in this research area This book is divided into three sections Section 1 consists of one chapter that gives an overview of the socioeconomic impact of mycotoxins Section 2 has five chapters that address the prevention and control of aflatoxins both at pre and post harvest stages Section 3 has two chapters that deal with health impact and control in the poultry industry This publication aims at providing a thorough overview of the latest research efforts in the field and opens new possible research paths for further novel developments in addressing the problem of mycotoxins Bridging the Academia Industry Divide Wilson R. Nyemba, Charles Mbohwa, Keith F. Carter, 2021-05-12 This book is the result of years of research following a realization of the mismatch of engineering skills produced by universities and those that industry required based on the situation in Sub Saharan Africa equally applicable to other regions in Africa and indeed worldwide The book is meant to assist engineering academics and engineers in industry to build capacity and cope with the dynamic trends in technology brought on by the 4th Industrial Revolution and to prepare for the 5th Industrial Revolution an era predicted to be dominated by critical and system thinkers with creative and innovative skills as basic necessities The book is also useful for policy making researchers in academia industrial and public sector researchers and implementers in governments that provide required funding for the development of human resources and skills The book primarily consists of the novel research and innovation approaches of modelling and building systems thinking sub models which were ultimately integrated into the Universal Systems Thinking UST model aimed at improving the quality of engineers and engineering practice The initiatives in this book include strategies for bridging the gap between industry and academia through systems thinking research The book provides information on how to model simulate adjust and implement integrated systems thinking approaches to engineering education and training for capacity building and sustainability The book also covers approaches to address research gaps and mismatch of skills while capitalizing on the successes of several projects carried out and supported by the Royal Academy of Engineering over the years Contested Karoo: Interdisciplinary perspectives on change and continuity in South Africa's drylands Cherryl Walker, M Timm Hoffman, 2024-05-15 This interdisciplinary collection explores significant land use changes in South Africa's semi arid Karoo region and their implications for social justice and the environment across different scales It brings together recent scholarship by established and younger researchers in both the social and the natural sciences to examine the ways in which the Karoo is being reconfigured as a new resource frontier and the tensions and contestations that result Along with ongoing mining major investments in astronomy notably the Square Kilometre Array radio telescope in renewable and non renewable sources of energy solar wind potential shale gas mining in biodiversity conservation and commercial game farming are reshaping land use and authority in this vast and long marginalised area While promising significant benefits to society at large these developments are built on older histories of dispossession and extractivism histories that many Karoo residents fear are being reproduced in new forms today Collectively these dynamics place this unique region at the centre of national and global concerns around climate change the politics of knowledge production the conservation of threatened biodiversity and the meaning and possibility of sustainable development These issues are explored through a series of case studies of selected developments complemented by chapters providing more historical context and general overviews While challenging perceptions of this region as a peripheral wasteland this collection raises conceptual and policy questions that resonate far beyond the Karoo itself It also highlights the importance of interdisciplinary collaboration in research aimed not only at understanding but also at responding appropriately to the mounting challenges of our time

South Africa's High-Stress Security Environment Gerhard Schoeman, 2024-10-11 This book presents valuable insights into the realities faced by security personnel as they deal with life threatening situations in a high stress security environment The causes and consequences of stress are explored followed by a comprehensive discussion of coping strategies and the negative consequences of not being able to cope effectively In this book a scientifically tested accessible model is also developed which provides a visual overview of the stress management process and captures the flow between stressors personality and coping strategies South Africa's High Stress Security Environment is a helpful guide for anyone who wants to gain a wider understanding and appreciation of the challenges and the courage of security personnel which we often take for granted Print edition not for sale in Sub Saharan Africa

Globalisation, Higher Education, the Labour Market and Inequality Antonia Kupfer, 2014-07-16 Globalisation Higher Education the Labour Market and Inequality addresses the global transformation of higher education in relation to changes in the labour market It focuses on the relative impact of elements of globalisation on social inequality and provides insights into the ways in which these general forces of change are transformed into specific policies shaped by global forces and the various national values institutional structures and politics of the specified societies The book begins with a theoretical conceptualization for a comparative understanding of globalization higher education labour markets and inequality This is followed by a range of mainstream accounts from an international selection of contributors of the ways in which national systems have responded to the forces of globalisation and the increasing demand for higher education graduates in Australia the Czech Republic Germany Japan New Zealand and the UK Finally contributors explore more specific concerns such as the transition from higher education to the labour market in China and Sweden the division of the knowledge workers into traditional social groups in the US and the role and salience of Doctoral programmes in South Africa in developing a knowledge economy This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Education and Work

Doctoral Education in South Africa Nico Cloete, Johann Mouton, 2015-12-08 Worldwide in Africa and in South Africa the importance of the doctorate has increased disproportionately in relation to its share of the overall graduate output over the past decade This heightened attention has not only been concerned with the traditional role of the PhD namely the provision of future academics rather it has focused on the increasingly important role that higher education and particularly high level skills is perceived to play in national development and the knowledge economy This book is unique in the area of research into doctoral studies because it draws on a large number of studies conducted by the Centre of Higher Education Trust CHET and the Centre for Research on Evaluation Science and Technology CREST as well as on studies from the rest of Africa and the world In addition to the historical studies new quantitative and qualitative research was undertaken to produce the evidence base for the analyses presented in the book The findings presented in Doctoral Education in South Africa pose anew at least six tough policy questions that the country has struggled with since 1994 and continues to struggle with if it wishes to gear up the system to meet the target of 5 000 new doctorates a year by 2030 Discourses framed around the single imperatives of growth efficiency transformation or quality will not however generate the kind of policy discourses required to resolve these tough policy questions effectively What is needed is a change in approach that accommodates multiple imperatives and allows for these to be addressed simultaneously

The Oxford Handbook of Evolutionary Medicine Martin Brüne, Wulf Schiefenhövel, 2019-01-31 Medicine is grounded in the natural sciences where biology stands out with regard to our understanding of human physiology and the conditions that cause dysfunction Ironically though evolutionary biology is a relatively disregarded field One reason for this omission is that evolution is deemed a slow process Indeed the macroanatomical features of our species have changed very little in the last 300 000 years A more detailed look however reveals that novel ecological contingencies partly in relation to cultural evolution have brought about subtle changes pertaining to metabolism and immunology including adaptations to dietary innovations as well as adaptations to the exposure to novel pathogens Rapid pathogen evolution and evolution of cancer cells cause major problems for the immune system Moreover many adaptations to past ecologies have actually turned into risk factors for somatic disease and psychological disorder in our modern worlds i e mismatch among which epidemics of autoimmune diseases cardiovascular diseases diabetes and obesity as well as several forms of cancer stand out One could add depression anxiety and other psychiatric conditions to the list The Oxford Handbook of Evolutionary Medicine is a compilation of up to date insights into the evolutionary history of ourselves as a species exploring how and why our evolved design may convey vulnerability to disease Written in a classic textbook style emphasising physiology and pathophysiology of all major organ systems the Oxford Handbook of Evolutionary Medicine is valuable reading for students as well as scholars in the fields of medicine biology anthropology and psychology

Acta Theriologica, 2014 Political Transition and Inclusive Development in Malawi Dan Banik, Blessings Chinsinga, 2016-06-10 Malawi is among the few countries in sub Saharan Africa that has witnessed significant improvements in relation to meeting the Millennium Development Goal MDG targets It exhibits some of the main challenges facing African democracies while they attempt to consolidate the benefits of democratisation Political Transition and Inclusive Development in Malawi critically analyses opportunities and constraints related to the impact of democracy on development in one of the world's poorest countries The book explores how and to what extent processes related to democratic and economic governance can be strengthened in order to make political and administrative authorities more responsive to development needs It also considers characteristics of successful implementation of public policy and the effective and timely delivery of basic services in local contexts increased citizen participation and dialogue with local government authorities factors that enable civil society organisations to hold political and administrative officials to account and better utilisation of academic research for improved evidence based policy formulation and implementation This volume will be of great interest to scholars in development studies African studies politics law and anthropology as well as policymakers and those interested in democracy governance human rights and the implementation of anti poverty programmes development administration and decentralisation

Success in Higher Education Leigh N. Wood, Yvonne A. Breyer, 2016-10-26 This book explores successful transition strategies to within and from university for students from around the globe with Macquarie University a large Australian university studied in depth It addresses the meaning of success taking a variety of perspectives including student staff and employer views The chapters present a series of initiatives that have proven to be successful in assisting students in developing their academic potential throughout university and beyond The authors of the chapters use a variety of methodologies and approaches reflecting the diverse local contexts and requirements These international perspectives demonstrate a triumph of practice that has led to the empowerment of individuals and groups The approaches from twelve universities located in eight different countries stem directly from the coalface and provide many valuable lessons and tools that colleagues in the sector will be able to consider and adapt in their own contexts Small interventions matter from a mentor of a nervous student who goes on to achieve greatness to the use of a curriculum design model that hooks a whole group of students into learning and achievement This book covers both the small individual victories and the larger scale strategies that support success Contributions emanate from Australia Bangladesh India China New Zealand United Kingdom Canada USA Uruguay and South Africa

The Ecology of Browsing and Grazing II Iain J. Gordon, Herbert H. T. Prins, 2019-11-12 Domestic and wild large mammalian herbivores occur on every continent except Antarctica Through their browsing and grazing they affect the structure and distribution not only of vegetation but also of associated fauna Consequently the interactions between management practices and herbivore populations influence the biodiversity structure and dynamics of ecosystems across vast expanses around the globe signs of human activity that will be detectable for epochs to come As a follow up work to The Ecology of Browsing and Grazing published in 2008 this new volume presents cutting edge research on the behaviour distribution movement and direct and indirect impacts of domestic and wild herbivores on terrestrial ecosystems The respective chapters highlight strategic and applied research on cross cutting issues in palaeontology and ecology and provide concrete recommendations on the management of large herbivores to integrate production and conservation in terrestrial systems Given its scope the book will appeal to students researchers and anyone interested in understanding these fascinating wild animals and how they shape the natural world
