Urban Inclusivity in Southern Africa Hangwelani H. Magidimisha-Chipungu, Lovemore Chipungu, 2021-09-28 This book's point of departure rests on the premises that dimensions of the mainstream inclusive city discourse fail to capture in detail vulnerable clusters of society being women children and the aging the minority clusters i e the blind the disabled and migrants In addition it fails to recognize the increase of spatial inequality driven by racial and class differences a factor that has seen an increase in community violence and protests The focus on spatial inequality has for a long time blind folded urban authorities to ignore exclusion arising out of the same environments created with a notion of creating inclusivity Hence this book collapses spatial walls as it seeks to uncover the true perspectives of inclusivity in cities beyond spatial dimensions but within social realms The depth of this book s enquiry rests on its critical investigation of Southern African cities through historical epochs of apartheid and colonialism in the region

Local Self-Governance and Varieties of Statehood Dieter

Neubert,Hans-Joachim Lauth,Christoph Mohamad-Klotzbach,2022-12-13 The debate on governance originates in the OECD world At the latest since the postcolonial debate we know that we need to test our assumptions under radically different conditions This book offers an extended perspective of local self governance by examining cases from South Asia Africa and Latin America together with a study of militias in the USA The chapters present a wide variety of local actors who pursue different notions of order legitimized by local traditions based on hierarchy or deeply rooted communalism Islamic theology or grassroots democracy Some local actors claim a state like authority and challenge the territorial state In such cases there is no longer a shadow hierarchy but opposition to the state Different violent actors fight for supremacy and the state is just one actor among others The empirical studies presented in this book show how different kinds of local self governance are combined with varieties of statehood and thus contribute to an understanding of the notion of governance in a fundamental sense that goes beyond the special case of the OECD world shaped by gender and generation eThekwini's Green and Ecological Infrastructure Policy Landscape Richard Meissner, 2020-08-31 This book offers the reader a deeper understanding of the eThekwini Metropolitan Municipality's green and ecological infrastructure policy landscape. The author utilises the PULSE3 analytical framework to conduct an in-depth examination and to show how experts frame and implement the municipality's green and ecological infrastructure strategies and projects. Although the initial purpose of this book was to investigate the role of green and ecological infrastructures in eThekwini's water security aspirations, the author realised that climate change adaptation and mitigation play a more central role in motivating the municipality to develop and implement such science-driven projects. To be sure, science that is informed by a positivist paradigm guides how, where and when the municipality should develop green and ecological infrastructures. Furthermore, a positivistic stance is generated in this policy landscape where science and politics meet at a local government level, and the book offers an insight into the science-policy interface as well as the normative and value orientations that positivism often ignores. The book also shows the usefulness of the PULSE3 framework and how it can assist scientists in all fields to gain a deeper understanding of the complications that are faced by humankind. This book fills a market gap by providing a view of how scientists think about problems and how to solve them by using established paradigms and theories.
