

University of Michigan Supplemental Essay

Prompt:

How would you describe your grandfather?

I consider my grandfather as a redneck. I call him that because I notice that he is very critical when it comes to the actions of others. He also lives a very unconventional lifestyle. He wants that other people also lives the way that he does. For this reason, I found it very hard at first to connect with him personally.

My grandfather lives in a small fishing village. He lives as a fisherman. My father wanted him to live with us in the city, but he stubbornly refuses to do so, saying that he is healthier than us because of the place where he is living. He is a fishing master, entering tournaments all across the country, winning awards along the way.

He hoped that his only child, my mother, would follow his footsteps. Unfortunately, my mother had no interest in the things he liked. She was more like my grandmother. However, rather than a stay at home girl, she did her best to go to college, choosing an engineering career. Imagine the shock that my grandfather had when my mother chose to leave home to go to college.

I am the only boy grandchild, as I have three other sisters. There were high expectations everytime we go visit him. He wanted me to become just like him. However, I am a pure city kid, who is not interested in fishing. He wanted me to take a course in marine biology in college, but I wanted to take medicine. My grandfather is a very hard person to please. However, he is a very loving person. One time I was sick while visiting him. He never left my side, nor took a nap the entire night while watching over me. I love him dearly for that.
