Aesthetics, Arts, and Politics in a Global World Daniel Herwitz, 2017-01-26 A different set of purposes define culture today than those that preoccupied the world in the immediate decades of decolonization Focusing on art and music in diverse parts of the world Daniel Herwitz explores a world that has largely shifted from the earlier days of nationalism decolonization and cultural exclusion to one of global markets and networks Using examples from India and Mexico to South Africa Australia and China Herwitz argues that the cultural politics and art being produced in these places are now post postcolonial Where the postcolonial downplayed formerly Eurocentric forms and celebrated art with national consciousness the rules for 21st century cultural authenticity are quickly disappearing Young people think of themselves in relation to global culture rather than nation building the project of producing a new and modern art for the incipient and rising postcolonial nation is out of date By examining the shift in which art accesses the past and the rise of trends such as hitching consumer culture to celebrity forms and branding Herwitz's original and engaging exploration of contemporary art captures the ways in which art has given way to a new form of production altering everything from the role of tradition and heritage in contemporary art to the terms of its vision and circulation

The Black and White Rainbow Carolyn Holmes,2020-10-13 Nation building imperatives compel citizens to focus on what makes them similar and what binds them together forgetting what makes them different Democratic institution building on the other hand requires fostering opposition through conducting multiparty elections and encouraging debate. Leaders of democratic factions like parties or interest groups can consolidate their power by emphasizing difference. But when held in tension, these two impulses toward remembering difference and forgetting it, between focusing on unity and encouraging division, are mutually constitutive of sustainable democracy. Based on ethnographic and interview-based fieldwork conducted in 2012-13, The Black and White Rainbow: Reconciliation, Opposition and Nation Building in Democratic South Africa explores various themes of nation and democracy building, including the emotional and banal content of symbols of the post-apartheid state, the ways that gender and race condition nascent nationalism, the public performance of nationalism and other group-based identities, integration and sharing of space, language diversity and the role of democratic functioning, including party politics and modes of opposition. Each of these thematic chapters aims to explicate a feature of the multifaceted nature of identity building and link the South African case to broader literatures on both nationalism and democracy.
