100 Silent Films Bryony Dixon, 2019-07-25 100 Silent Films provides an authoritative and accessible history of silent cinema through one hundred of its most interesting and significant films As Bryony Dixon contends silent cinema is not a genre it is the first 35 years of film history a complex negotiation between art and commerce and a union of creativity and technology At its most grand on the big screen with a full orchestral accompaniment it is magnificent permitting a depth of emotional engagement rarely found in other fields of cinema Silent film was hugely popular in its day and its success enabled the development of large scale film production in the United States and Europe It was the start of our fascination with the moving image as a disseminator of information and as mass entertainment with its consequent celebrity culture The digital revolution in the last few years and the restoration and reissue of archival treasures have contributed to a huge resurgence of interest in silent cinema Bryony Dixon's illuminating guide introduces a wide range of films of the silent period 1895-1930 including classics such as The Birth of a Nation 1915 The General 1926 Metropolis 1927 Sunrise 1927 and Pandora's Box 1928 alongside more unexpected choices and represents major genres and directors of the period Griffith Keaton Chaplin Murnau Sjström Dovzhenko and Eisenstein together with an introductory overview and useful filmographic and bibliographic information

of girls supporting each other through Aunt Flo's ups and downs it's a Hawking Middle School tradition. The club's secret locker has an emergency stash of supplies and the girls are always willing to lend an ear, a shoulder or an old pair of sweatpants. But when the school administration shuts the Red Club down because of complaints, the girls are stunned. Who would do that to them? The girls' shock quickly turns into anger and then they decide to get even. But wallpapering the gym with maxi pads and making tampon crafts in art class won't bring their club back. Only Riley can do that. Using the skills she has cultivated as her school paper's top investigative reporter, okay, only investigative reporter, she digs for the truth about who shut the club down and why. All the while dealing with friendship drama, a new and ridiculous dress code and a support group that is now more focused on fighting with each other than fighting back. The Life of Langston Hughes: 1941-1967, I dream a world Arnold Rampersad, 1986 Profiles one of the most extraordinary writers of the twentieth century from his birth in Missouri in 1902 through his journeys around the world to the winter of 1941, providing insights into his political views.

William Faulkner and Southern History Joel Williamson, 1995-12-14 One of America's greatest novelists, William Faulkner was a writer deeply rooted in the American South. In works such as The Sound and the Fury, As I Lay Dying, Light in August and Absalom, Absalom!, Faulkner drew powerfully on Southern themes, attitudes and atmosphere to create his own world and place the mythical Yoknapatawpha County, peopled with quintessential Southerners such as the Compsons and Sartorises. Indeed, to a great degree, perhaps unmatched by any other major twentieth-century novelist, Faulkner remained at home and explored his own region, the history and culture and people of the South. Now, in William Faulkner and Southern History, one of America's most acclaimed historians of the South, Joel Williamson weaves together a perceptive biography of Faulkner himself, an astute analysis of his works and a revealing history of Faulkner's ancestors in Mississippi, a family history that becomes, in Williamson's skilled hands, a vivid portrait of Southern culture itself. This book makes the writings of William Faulkner, often thought to be inscrutable, easily accessible to the general reader. Thoroughly researched, and highly readable it describes fully and clearly the cultural context that produced first the artist and then the art The Moving Picture World ,1909 The Windsor Magazine ,1916 The Routledge Encyclopedia of Films Sabine Haenni,Sarah Barrow,John White,2014-09-15 The Routledge Encyclopedia of Films comprises 200 essays by leading film scholars analysing the most important influential innovative and interesting films of all time Arranged alphabetically each entry explores why each film is significant for those who study film and explores the social historical and political contexts in which the film was produced Ranging from Hollywood classics to international bestsellers to lesser known representations of national cinema this collection is deliberately broad in scope crossing decades boundaries and genres The encyclopedia thus provides an introduction to the historical range and scope of cinema produced throughout the world
