Ladies Only maps out the early culture of cinema stardom in India from its emergence in the silent era to the decade after Indian independence in the mid twentieth century Neepa Majumdar combines readings of specific films and stars with an analysis of the historical and cultural configurations that gave rise to distinctly Indian notions of celebrity She argues that discussions of early cinematic stardom in India must be placed in the context of the general legitimizing discourse of colonial improvement that marked other civic and cultural spheres as well and that vernacular modernist anxieties over the New Woman had limited resonance here Rather it was through emphatically nationalist discourses that Indian cinema found its model for modern female identities Considering questions of spectatorship gossip popularity and the dominance of a star based production system Majumdar details the rise of film stars such as Sulochana Fearless Nadia Lata Mangeshkar and Nargis

The New European Cinema Rosalind Galt,2006-03-21 New European Cinema offers a compelling response to the changing cultural shapes of Europe charting political aesthetic and historical developments through innovative readings of some of the most popular and influential European films of the 1990s Made around the time of the revolutions of 1989 but set in post World War II Europe these films grapple with the reunification of Germany the disintegration of the Balkans and a growing sense of historical loss and disenchantment felt across the continent They represent a period in which national borders became blurred and the events of the mid twentieth century began to be reinterpreted from a multinational European perspective Featuring in depth case studies of films from Italy Germany eastern Europe and Scandinavia Rosalind Galt reassesses the role that nostalgia melodrama and spectacle play in staging history She analyzes Giuseppe Tornatore's Cinema Paradiso Michael Radford's Il Postino Gabriele Salvatores's Mediterraneo Emir Kusturica's Underground and Lars von Trier's Zentropa and contrasts them with films of the immediate postwar era including the neorealist films of Roberto Rossellini and Vittorio De Sica socialist realist cinema in Yugoslavia Billy Wilder's A Foreign Affair and Carol Reed's The Third Man Going beyond the conventional focus on national cinemas and heritage Galt's transnational approach provides an account of how post Berlin Wall European cinema inventively rethought the identities ideologies image and popular memory of the continent By connecting these films to political and philosophical debates on the future of Europe as well as to contemporary critical and cultural theories Galt redraws the map of European cinema

Picture Freedom Jasmine Nichole Cobb,2015-04-03 In the decades leading up to the end of U S slavery many free Blacks sat for daguerreotypes decorated in fine garments to document their self possession People pictured in these early photographs used portraiture to seize control over representation of the free Black body and reimagine Black visuality divorced from the cultural logics of slavery In Picture Freedom Jasmine Nichole Cobb analyzes the ways in which the circulation of various images prepared free Blacks and free Whites for the emancipation of formerly unfree people of African descent She traces the emergence of Black freedom as both an idea and as an image during the early nineteenth century Through an analysis of popular culture of the period including amateur portraiture racial caricatures joke books antislavery newspapers abolitionist materials runaway advertisements ladies magazines and scrapbooks as well as scenic wallpaper Cobb explores the earliest illustrations of free Blacks and reveals the complicated route through visual culture toward a vision of African American citizenship Picture Freedom reveals how these depictions contributed to public understandings of nationhood among both domestic eyes and the larger Atlantic world Thus Have I Seen Andy Rotman, 2009 This book offers a new approach to understanding Buddhist lay and monastic practice by recognizing the crucial role that visual practices played in Indian Buddhism in the early centuries of the Common Era In the genre of Indian Buddhist narratives known as avadana most lay religious practice consists not of reading praying or meditating but of visually engaging with certain kinds of objects The key for understanding the Buddhist conceptualization about the world and the ways it should be navigated is found in these stories in ways of seeing and the results of seeing Visions of the Human Tom Slevin, 2015-05-28 In what ways do the artistic avant garde s representations of the human body reflect the catastrophe of World War I The European modernists were inspired by developments in the nineteenth century yielding new forms of knowledge about the nature of reality and repositioning the human body as the new object of knowledge New visions of the human subject were created within this transformation However modernity s reactionary political climate for which World War I provided a catalyst transformed a once liberal ideal between humanity environment and technology into a tool of disciplinary rationalisation Visions of the Human considers the consequences of this historical moment for the twentieth and twenty first centuries It explores the ways in which the technologies of the self that inspired the avant garde were increasingly instrumentalised by conservative politics urbanism consumer capitalism and the society of the spectacle This is an engaging and powerful study which challenges prior ideas and explores new ways of thinking about modern visual culture
