Research

Supervision for Supervisors and Their Students: 2nd Edition Dan Remenyi, Arthur Money, 2012-03-01 Research degrees remain a challenge for both supervisors and the researchers whom they are trying to help. It is more challenging than ever to find a good doctoral programme and it is difficult to manage all the different facets of a research degree that have to be attended to. Not everyone who thinks it is a good idea to undertake a research degree will be successful and this book indicates the characteristics which are required to produce high quality academic research. The book explores a number of important issues including the nature of theory development in academic research and how positivist and interpretivist research functions. The book discusses in detail how masters and doctoral degrees are evaluated and gives tips on how to be sure that the examiners will be satisfied with both the dissertation and during the viva. This book offers sound advice to both supervisors and their students as to how to navigate their way through all the issues they have to face. In its second edition the book not only addresses the issues which have either changed or have developed since the first edition but it also contains additional material which the authors believe will be a direct help to supervisors and their students.

Writing for Academic Journals Rowena Murray, 2013-09-01 Busy academics must publish. To fulfil research output they must write to a specific journal style and high standard while juggling other professional tasks. This book develops understanding of how writing happens, what good writing looks and feels like, what gets published and what does not and why.

Australia's Music: Themes of a New Society (2nd ed.) Roger Covell, 2016-12-01 Described on its first publication in 1967 as a scholarly account of Australian music that is also entertaining social history, Roger Covell's Australia's Music: Themes of a New Society has become a classic of Australian music history for its beautifully written explorations of almost two hundred years of music making across classical, Indigenous and Anglo-Celtic traditions. This revised edition, including more than sixty musical examples, is supplemented by a new postscript written by the author.

Staging Brazil Ana Paula Hofling, 2019-06-04 Winner of Oscar G. Brockett Book Prize for Dance Research given by DSA 2021. Staging Brazil: Choreographies of Capoeira is the first in-depth study of the processes of legitimization and globalization of capoeira, the Afro-Brazilian combat game practiced today throughout the world. Ana Paula Hofling contextualizes the emergence of the two main styles of capoeira, Angola and Regional, within discourses of race and nation in mid-twentieth century Brazil. This history of capoeira's corporeality on the page and on the stage includes analysis of illustrated capoeira manuals and reveals the mutual influences between capoeira practitioners, tourism bureaucrats, intellectuals, artists and directors of folkloric ensembles. Staging Brazil sheds light on the importance of capoeira in folkloric shows in the 1960s and 70s, both those that catered to tourists visiting Brazil and those that toured abroad and introduced capoeira to the world.
