Modern Computational Approaches to Traditional Chinese Medicine
Zhaohui Wu, Huajun Chen, Xiaohong Jiang, 2012-10-22

Recognized as an essential component of Chinese culture, Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) is both an ancient medical system and one still used widely in China today. TCM's independently evolved knowledge system is expressed mainly in the Chinese language, and the information is frequently only available through ancient classics and confidential family records, making it difficult to utilize. The major concern in TCM is how to consolidate and integrate the data, enabling efficient retrieval and discovery of novel knowledge from the dispersed data. Computational approaches such as data mining, semantic reasoning, and computational intelligence have emerged as innovative approaches for the reservation and utilization of this knowledge system. Typically, this requires an interdisciplinary approach involving Chinese culture, computer science, modern healthcare, and life sciences. This book examines the computerization of TCM information and knowledge to provide intelligent resources and supporting evidences for clinical decision making, drug discovery, and education. Recent research results from the Traditional Chinese Medicine Informatics Group of Zhejiang University are presented, gathering in one resource systematic approaches for massive data processing in TCM. These include the utilization of modern Semantic Web and data mining methods for more advanced data integration, data analysis, and integrative knowledge discovery. This book will appeal to medical professionals, life sciences students, computer scientists, and those interested in integrative, complementary, and alternative medicine.

Interdisciplinary book bringing together Traditional Chinese Medicine and computer scientists. Introduces novel network technologies to Traditional Chinese Medicine informatics. Provides theory and practical examples and case studies of new techniques.

The Cognitive and Neural Organisation of Speech Processing Patti Adank,Carolyn McGettigan,Sonja A E Kotz,2016-03-18 Speech production and perception are two of the most complex actions humans perform The processing of speech is studied across various fields and using a wide variety of research approaches These fields include but are not limited to socio linguistics phonetics cognitive psychology neurophysiology and cognitive neuroscience Research approaches range from behavioural studies to neuroimaging techniques such as Magnetoencephalography electroencephalography MEG EEG and functional Magnetic Resonance Imaging fMRI as well as neurophysiological approaches such as the recording of Motor Evoked Potentials MEPs and Transcranial Magnetic Stimulation TMS Each of these approaches provides valuable information about specific aspects of speech processing Behavioural testing can inform about the nature of the cognitive processes involved in speech processing neuroimaging methods show where fMRI and MEG in the brain these processes take place and or elucidate on the time course of activation of these brain areas EEG and MEG while neurophysiological methods MEPs and TMS can assess critical involvement of brain regions in the cognitive process Yet what is currently unclear is how speech researchers can combine methods such that a convergent approach adds to theory model formulation above and beyond the contribution of individual component methods We expect that such combinations of approaches will significantly forward theoretical development in the field The present research topic comprise a collection of manuscripts discussing the cognitive and neural organisation of speech processing including speech production and perception at the level of individual speech sounds syllables words and sentences Our goal was to use findings from a variety of disciplines perspectives and approaches to gain a more complete picture of the organisation of speech processing The contributions are grouped around the following five main themes 1 Spoken language comprehension under difficult listening conditions 2 Sub lexical processing 3 Sensorimotor processing of speech 4 Speech production The contributions used a variety of research approaches including behavioural experiments fMRI EEG MEG and TMS Twelve of the 14 contributions were on speech perception processing and the remaining two examined speech production This Research Topic thus displays a wide variety of topics and research methods and this comprehensive approach allows an integrative understanding of currently available evidence as well as the identification of concrete venues for future research
