The Leopard Sword: Empire IV Anthony Riches, 2012-04-26 Britannia has been subdued and an epic new chapter in Marcus Valerius Aquila's life begins. A master of the genre The Times. The murderous Roman agents who nearly captured Marcus have been defeated by his friends. But in order to protect those very friends from the wrath of the emperor he must leave the province which has been giving him shelter. As Marcus Tribulus Corvus, centurion of the second Tungrian auxiliary cohort, he leads his men from Hadrian's Wall to the Tungrians' original home in Germania Inferior. There he finds a very different world from the turbulent British frontier but one with its own dangers. Tungrorum, the center of a once prosperous farming province, a city already brought low by the ravages of the eastern plague that has swept through the empire, is now threatened by an outbreak of brutally violent robbery. A bandit chieftain called Obduro, his identity always hidden behind an iron cavalry helmet, is robbing and killing with impunity. His sword, sharper, stronger, and more deadly than any known to the Roman army, is the lethal symbol of his unstoppable power. And now he has moved beyond mere theft and threatens to destabilize the whole northern frontier of the empire.

Remaking History Jerome De Groot,2015-07-30 Remaking History considers the ways that historical fictions of all kinds enable a complex engagement with the past Popular historical texts including films television and novels along with cultural phenomena such as superheroes and vampires broker relationships to history while also enabling audiences to understand the ways in which the past is written structured and ordered Jerome de Groot uses examples from contemporary popular culture to show the relationship between fiction and history in two key ways Firstly the texts pedagogically contribute to the historical imaginary and secondly they allow reflection upon how the past is constructed as history In doing so they provide an accessible and engaging means to critique conceptualize and reject the processes of historical representation The book looks at the use of the past in fiction from sources including Mad Men Downton Abbey and Howard Brenton s Anne Boleyn along with the work of directors such as Terence Malick Quentin Tarantino and Martin Scorsese to show that fictional representations enable a comprehension of the fundamental strangeness of the past and the ways in which this foreign exotic other is constructed Drawing from popular films novels and TV series of recent years and engaging with key thinkers from Marx to Derrida Remaking History is a must for all students interested in the meaning that history has for fiction and vice versa

The religious authorities in the days of Christ had encrusted God's law with so many rules regulations and traditions that the beauty of the law was lost and keeping of the law a heavy burden The joy of righteousness and salvation had become drudge and dreary This work is purposed to clear away the rubbish accumulated through the change of the meaning of words through the years since the King James Version was written the obfuscation occasioned by highly critical theologians and the difficulty of turning Koine Greek Aramaic and Hebrew phrases and colloquialisms into common English of today by illuminating principles that can be applied to every text making the meaning to be clear as sunlight thereby drawing the reader to appreciate the beauty of holiness and the Jesus who exemplified the true Christian virtues      Swordheart T.
