We The Drowned Carsten Jensen:

We, the Drowned Carsten Jensen, 2011-02-09 Explore the wondrous sea and the oddities of human nature in this international bestselling thrilling epic novel of a Danish port town Hailed in Europe as an instant classic We the Drowned is the story of the port town of Marstal Denmark whose inhabitants sailed the world from the mid nineteenth century to the end of the Second World War The novel tells of ships wrecked and blown up in wars of places of terror and violence that continue to lure each generation there are cannibals here shrunken heads prophetic dreams and miraculous survivals The result is a brilliant seafaring novel a gripping saga encompassing industrial growth the years of expansion and exploration the crucible of the first half of the twentieth century and most of all the sea Called one of the most exciting authors in Nordic literature by Henning Mankell Carsten Jensen has worked as a literary critic and a journalist reporting from China Cambodia Latin America the Pacific Islands and Afghanistan He lives in Copenhagen and Marstal We the Drowned sets sail beyond the narrow channels of the seafaring genre and approaches Tolstoy in its evocation of war's confusion its power to stun victors and vanquished alike A gorgeous unsparing novel Washington Post A generational saga a swashbuckling sailor's tale and the account of a small town coming into modernity both Melville and Steinbeck might have been pleased to read it New Republic Dozens of stories coalesce into an odyssey taut with action and drama and suffused with enough heart to satisfy readers who want more than the breakneck thrills of ships battling the elements Publishers Weekly starred Danish Literature as World Literature Mads Rosendahl Thomsen, Dan Ringgaard, 2017-02-09 Despite being a minor language Danish literature is one of the world's most actively translated and the Scandinavian country is the home of a number of significant writers Hans Christian Andersen remains one of the most translated authors in the world philosopher Søren Kierkegaard inspired modern Existentialism Karen Blixen chronicled her life in colonial Kenya as well as writing imaginary cosmopolitan tales and the writers among the circles of literary critic Georg Brandes in the late 19th century were especially important to the further development of European Modernism Danish Literature as World Literature introduces key figures from 800 years of Danish literature and their impact on world literature It includes chapters devoted to post 1945 literature on beat and systemic poetry as well as the Scandinavia noir vogue that includes both crime fiction and cinema and is enjoying worldwide popularity A Poetic History of the Oceans Søren Frank, 2022-07-18 What is the ocean's role in human and planetary history How have writers sailors painters scientists historians and philosophers from across time and space poetically envisioned the oceans and depicted human entanglements with the sea In order to answer these questions Søren Frank covers an impressive range of material in A Poetic History of the Oceans Greek Roman and Biblical texts an Icelandic Saga Shakespearean drama Jens Munk's logbook 19th century writers such as James Fenimore Cooper Herman Melville Jules Michelet Victor Hugo Jules Verne Jonas Lie and Joseph Conrad as well as their 20th and 21st century heirs like J.G. Ballard Jens Bjørneboe and Siri Ranva Hjelm Jacobsen A Poetic History of the Oceans promotes what Frank labels an amphibian comparative literature and mobilises recent theoretical concepts and methodological developments in Blue Humanities Blue Ecology and New Materialism to shed new light on well known texts and introduce readers to important but lesser known Scandinavian literary engagements with the sea

Transoceanic Perspectives in Amitav Ghosh's Ibis Trilogy Juan-José Martín-González, 2021-06-23 Transoceanic Perspectives in Amitav Ghosh's Ibis Trilogy studies Ghosh's Sea of Poppies 2008 River of Smoke 2011 and Flood of Fire 2015 in relation to maritime criticism Juan José Martín González draws upon the intersections between maritime criticism and postcolonial thought to provide via an analysis of the Ibis trilogy alternative insights into nationalism's cosmopolitanism and globalization He shows that the Victorian age in its transoceanic dimension can be read as an era of proto globalization that facilitates a materialist critique of the inequities of contemporary global neo liberalism The book argues that in order to maintain its critical sharpness postcolonialism must re direct its focus towards today's most obvious legacy of nineteenth century imperialism capitalist globalization Tracing the migrating characters who engage in transoceanic crossings through Victorian sea lanes in the Ibis trilogy Martín González explores how these dispossessed collectives made sense of their identities in the Victorian waterworlds and illustrates the political possibilities provided by the sea crossing and its fluid boundaries

Herring Tales Donald S. Murray, 2015-09-10 A lighthearted and informative narrative about the history of herring and our love affair with the silver darlings Scots like to smoke or salt them The Dutch love them raw Swedes look on with relish as they open bulging foul smelling cans to find them curdling within Jamaicans prefer them with a dash of chilli pepper Germans and the English enjoy their taste best when accompanied by pickle's bite and brine Throughout the long centuries men have fished around their coastlines and beyond the herring has done much to shape both human taste and history Men have co operated and come into conflict over its shoals setting out in boats to catch them straying too far from their home ports to bring full nets to shore Women have also often been at the centre of the industry gutting and salting the catch when the annual harvest had taken place knitting too the garments fishermen wore to protect them from the ocean's chill Following a journey from the western edge of Norway to the east of England from Shetland and the Outer Hebrides to the fishing ports of the Baltic coast of Germany and the Netherlands culminating in a visit to Iceland's Herring Era Museum Donald S Murray has stitched together tales of the fish that was of central importance to the lives of our ancestors noting how both it and those involved in their capture were celebrated in the art literature craft music and folklore of life in northern Europe Blending together politics science history religious and commercial life Donald contemplates too the possibility of restoring the silver darlings of legend to these shores

Ocean Steve Mentz, 2020-03-19 Object Lessons is a series of short beautifully designed books about the hidden lives of ordinary things The ocean comprises the largest object on our planet Retelling human history from an oceanic rather than terrestrial point of view unsettles our relationship with the natural environment Our engagement with the world's oceans can be destructive as with today's deluge of plastic trash and acidification but the mismatch between small bodies and vast seas also emphasizes the frailty and resilience of human experience From ancient stories of shipwrecked sailors to the containerized future of 21st century commerce Ocean splashes the histories we thought we knew into salty and unfamiliar places Object Lessons is published in partnership with an essay series in The Atlantic

Coastal Works Nicholas Allen,Nick Groom,Jos Smith,2017-07-04 In all the complex cultural history of the islands of Britain and Ireland the idea of the coast as a significant representative space is critical For many important artists coastal space has figured as a site from which to braid ideas of empire nation region and archipelago They have been drawn to the coast as a zone of geographical uncertainty in which the self definitions of the nation founder they have been drawn to it as a peripheral space of vestigial wildness of island retreats and experimental living as a network of diverse localities richly endowed with distinctive forms of cultural heritage and as a dynamically interconnected ecosystem which is at the same time the historic site of significant developments in fieldwork and natural science This collection situates these cultures of the Atlantic edge in a series of essays that create new contexts for coastal study in literary history and criticism The contributors frame their research in response to emerging conversations in archipelagic criticism the blue humanities and island studies the essays challenging the reader to reconsider ideas of margin periphery and exchange These twelve case studies establish the coast as a crucial location in the imaginative history of Britain Ireland and the north Atlantic edge Coastal Works will appeal to readers of literature and history with an interest in the sea the environment and the archipelago from the 18th century to the present Accessible innovative and provocative Coastal Works establishes the important role that the coast plays in our cultural imaginary and suggests a range of methodologies to represent relationships between land sea and cultural work
