SUSTAINABLE WEB DESIGN

HOW TO BUILD IT

The internet may be digital, but it carries a very physical cost. From energy that is used to create languages to servers, the choices we make to use this web can pile up electricity and left our carbon- and water-related prints, which do not go to the environment.

But don't hope small, thought changes in design and development can reduce the damage while the making the web more efficient in the face of a changing climate. In Sustainable Web Design, Tim Greenwood offers a practical guide to learn more about efficient website that are not only better for the planet, but better for our users.
