Thinking Diversity, Building Cohesion ,2009 Challenging Inequality in South Africa Michelle Williams, Vishwas Satgar, 2021-05-13 In Challenging Inequality in South Africa Transitional Compasses leading scholars of South Africa explore creative possibilities to challenge structures of economic social and political power that produce inequality Through concrete empirical examples of movements workers struggles initiatives and politics in challenging inequality the authors illustrate transitional compasses that go beyond protest politics to a generative politics a politics of building the alternatives in the interstitial spaces of capitalism The conceptual framing is oriented around the way in which power is produced and reproduced through intricate relationships between hegemonic projects and everyday life While power underpins all social relations it is often taken for granted as it is frequently hidden behind other social relations Resistance to power emerges through engendering counter hegemonic projects that are intertwined with alternative everyday practices The authors highlight sources of alternative forms of power found in resistance to dominant forms of power through concrete experiences to create transformative alternatives To concretize the conceptual framing the authors look at the emancipatory possibilities of a universal basic income the use of law in tackling inequality in health and education creative initiatives to establish a people centred food system through food sovereignty new forms of organizing led by precarious workers democratic possibilities in local state delivery and attempts at reconceptualizing the good life by looking at issues of happiness and ecosocialism The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal Globalizations Finweek ,2007

Curriculum and the Teacher Nigel Norris, 2014-06-03 Bringing together seminal papers from the Cambridge Journal of Education around the theme of curriculum and the teacher this book explores the changing conceptions of curriculum and teaching and the changing role of the teacher in curriculum development The Liberal Model and Africa K.

Good,2001-12-17 This book critically examines the realities of liberal democracy its elitism and non accountability and its inequalities and injustices Participatory systems and movements whether in Athens seventeenth and nineteenth century England or South Africa 1970 1990 are more effective in satisfying the democratic aspirations of the people and in curtailing ambitious elites than what is passed off now as democracy By interrogating contemporary democratic regimes in the United States and in Botswana and South Africa the severe limitations and constraints inherent in liberal democracy are highlighted The need for a clear evaluation of what constituted democracy emerges as a powerful message of Kenneth Good s argument

Social Work in Mental Health and Substance Abuse Sharon Palmer,2016 This title includes a number of Open Access chapters This book examines many of the predominant issues in the field of social work in mental health and substance abuse today Topics discussed include incarceration of drug abusers methadone treatment for heroin users and substance abuse among sex workers It also examines how parental smoking affects children s attitudes binge drinking and the correlation between depression and sociodemographic factors The book also explores help for homeless drug abusers and more

Economics and Climate Emergency Barry Gills,Jamie Morgan,2022-08-22 This book explores a series of connected themes focused on the role economics and other influential forms of theory and thinking have played in creating the current predicament and the scope for alternatives and how they might be framed Thirty years have passed since the inception of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change UNFCCC and the beginning of policy on climate change Thirty wasted years To most politicians long term collective interest has been denominated in meaningless units of time a never and forever that has continually delayed action From complacency has come potential disaster and we are now living in a time of climate emergency and ecological breakdown The next decade is a pivotal period requiring fundamental change But numerous impediments remain Continual material energy and economic growth on a planetary scale are manifestly impossible and yet economic theory takes these as a given and political leadership and policy seem unwilling to accept brute reality Instead they offer a series of implausible commitments and pledges rooted in technofixes without addressing the fundamental drivers of the problems the world faces The edited volume explores the issues and offers a variety of ways to think through the problems at hand from postgrowth degrowth and social ecological economics to policy assemblage and transversalism The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal Globalizations Computers in Schools

Paul Lundall,2000 African Business ,1995 Mintek Annual Report Council for Mineral Technology (South Africa),1999 South Africa Survey ,1997 ICT Education Salah Kabanda,Hussein Suleman,Stefan Gruner,2018-12-31 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 47th Annual Conference of the Southern African Computer Lecturers Association on ICT Education SACLA 2018 held in Gordon s Bay South Africa in June 2018 The 23 revised full papers presented together with an extended abstract of a keynote paper were carefully reviewed and selected from 79 submissions. Social Work in Social Change Nicci Earle, 2008. This study forms part of a series of studies on professions and professional education being conducted by the HSRC's research programme on Education Science Skills Development. It follows a pilot study on medical doctors published in 2006 entitled Doctors in a Divided Society: The profession and education of medical practitioners in South Africa. Like the other studies in the series, this study involved developing an understanding of the professional milieu and professional labour market of social workers. As the implementers of government social policy, social work professionals have been at the forefront of grappling with the practicalities of the changes in focus, approach and methods of social security and social service delivery since 1994. It examines developments in the education and training of social workers within the democratic dispensation, the most significant of which is the development of a national standardised Bachelor of Social Work degree. The study also reveals that the dominant profile in student enrolment and graduation statistics has changed from white female to African female and that enrolment has increased significantly. However, the study also shows that graduation trends have been negative and losses due to emigration are an additional concern. Given the scarcity of these professionals against the demand for their services, understanding the factors that contribute to this picture are critical to effective intervention.

This Week in South Africa, 1995 Multinationals on the Periphery G. Benito, R. Narula, 2007-10-26. Multinational enterprises do not regard all locations as being equivalent. Smaller economies and less developed countries are not as attractive because of a limited market size or lack of proximity to other locations. This book focuses on how multinational activity to and from peripheral economies differs from their activity in core economies.

Planning and Transformation Philip Harrison, Alison Todes, Vanessa Watson, 2007-09-12. Planning and Transformation provides a comprehensive view of planning under political transition in South Africa, offering an accessible resource for both students and researchers in an international and a local audience. In the years after the 1994 transition to democracy in South Africa, planners believed they would be able to successfully promote a vision of integrated, equitable and sustainable cities and counter the spatial distortions created by apartheid. This book covers the experience of the planning community, the extent to which their aims were achieved and the hindering factors. Although some of the factors affecting planning have been context specific, the nature of South Africa's transition and its relationship to global dynamics have meant that many of the issues confronting planners in other parts of the world are echoed here. Issues of governance, integration, market competitiveness, sustainability, democracy and values are significant and the particular nature of the South African experience lends new insights to thinking on these questions, exploring the possibilities of achievement in the planning field.
