Teacher Preparation in Papua New Guinea John Mortimer,2024-03-20 The authors present a comprehensive examination of the historical origins and development of schooling and teacher preparation in Papua New Guinea from indigenous education in villages the influence of European colonization and the role of missionaries in providing education and the implications for education policies and practices

Quality Assurance in Higher Education David Lim,2020-07-24 This title was first published in 2001 Universities in developing countries have followed their counterparts in developed countries and adopted quality assurance to improve the quality of their activities This text examines the wisdom of such a move when many of the conditions necessary for its success are not present It concludes that quality assurance can be useful in developing countries because it shows how a university s seemingly disparate activities are related to one another to serve a common goal and how the quality of these can best be improved by using an integrated approach Quality assurance also provides more focus and direction to the work of the traditional university system However it must be modified to suit the conditions prevailing in developing countries by being simple in design modest in expectations and realistic in requirements

Culture Change and Ex-Change Regina Knapp,2017-10-01 How is cultural change perceived and performed by members of the Bena Bena language group who live in the Eastern Highlands of Papua New Guinea In her analysis Knapp draws upon existing bodies of work on culture change exchange and person in Melanesia but brings them together in a new way by conjoining traditional models with theoretical approaches of the new Melanesian ethnography and with collaborative reflexive and reverse anthropology

Tropical Forests Of Oceania Joshua A. Bell,Paige West,Colin Filer,2015-08-31 The tropical forests of Oceania are an enduring source of concern for indigenous communities for the migrants who move to them for the states that encompass them within their borders for the multilateral institutions and aid agencies and for the non governmental organisations that focus on their conservation Grounded in the perspective of political ecology contributors to this volume approach forests as socially alive spaces produced by a confluence of local histories and global circulations In doing so they collectively explore the multiple ways in which these forests come into view and therefore into being Exploring the local dynamics within and around these forests provides an insight into regional issues that have global resonance Intertwined as they are with cosmological beliefs and livelihoods as sites of biodiversity and Western desire these forests have been and are still being transformed by the interaction of foreign and local entities Focusing on case studies from Papua New Guinea the Solomon Islands and the Gambier Islands this volume brings new perspectives on how Pacific Islanders continue to creatively engage with the various processes at play in and around their forests

Redesigning English Sharon Goodman,David Graddol,Theresa Lillis,2020-10-28 This fully updated edition of Redesigning English explores the innovative uses of English from early manuscripts to post colonial literature creative writing and developments in new media Focusing on how English has and continues to evolve through its global status there is a strong emphasis on the visual forms of language and communication and on issues of identity and politics New chapters for this edition include what makes English into Art A tongue for sighing English manuscripts the emergence of a visual identity English in a globalized world

Expressive Genres and Historical Change Andrew Strathern, 2017-07-05 This collection of essays edited by leading scholars in the field focuses on how expressive genres such as music dance and poetry are of enduring significance to social organization Research from New Guinea Indonesia and Taiwan is used to assess how historical changes modify these forms of expression to adjust to the social and political needs of the moment The volume is unique in exploring the significance of expressive genres for the social processes of coping with and adjusting to change either from outside forces or from internal ones The contributions detail first hand fieldwork often conducted over a period of many years and with each contributor bringing their experience to bear on both the aesthetic and the analytical aspects of their materials Comparative in scope the volume covers Austronesian and non Austronesian speakers in the wider Indo Pacific region

Big-Men and Business Ben R. Finney, 2019-03-31 High in the New Guinea mountains a sociological drama of unique design has been unfolding since the early 1930s At that time the first of the Europeans who would take part in the area s development trekked into the remote highlands These early gold prospectors patrol officers and missionaries made the first outside contacts with the Stone Age Gorokan people These encounters ultimately catapulted the Gorokans subsistence gardeners cultivating sweet potatoes and raising pigs squarely into the twentieth century The magnitude of the economic and social changes that followed in the next forty years clearly distinguish the Gorokan case as one of the most remarkable examples of human adaptability to be witnessed in modern times Although popular thinking has it that traditional societies are change resistant and that social reforms therefore must precede economic and other types of development the Gorokans remarkably reversed the process and passed from the Stone Age to the twentieth century marketplace in one generation Today they are heavily involved in growing coffee they have developed their own trucking industry for transporting coffee and other cash crops to market and they are venturing into the raising of beef cattle and the operation of trade stores and various businesses Big Men and Business is the record of this extraordinary case of economic change based on field study conducted in 1967 and 1968 Dr Finney interviewed many of the Gorokan leaders of this commercial revolution and draws comparisons between the Gorokan experience and that of other New Guinean peoples One of the results of his research indicates that the Gorokans may have been predisposed to entrepreneurship Traditionally a Gorokan big man was the man who acquired the valuables of his society cowrie shells mother of pearl shells pigs and bird of paradise plumes These leaders were honored for their skills in the flourishing local exchange system This fact coupled with a supportive colonial relationship and a favorable natural environment enhanced the Gorokans adaptation and thus the leap from the world of traditional exchange to one where business is conducted on a cash basis was in reality a short step Foreword by Douglas L

Oliver The Progressive Education Fallacy in Developing Countries Gerard Guthrie, 2011-06-23 This book provides a provocative but carefully argued addition to the theory and practice of education in developing countries The book provides an ethical and empirical justification for support of formalistic teaching in primary and secondary schools in developing countries It also refutes the application of progressive education principles to curriculum and pre and in service teacher education in such contexts The central focus of this book is the formalistic teaching prevalent in the classrooms of many developing countries Formalistic teacher centred traditional didactic pedagogic teaching is appropriate in the many countries with revelatory epistemologies unpopular and old fashioned though these methods may seem in some western especially Anglophone ones Formalism has been the object of many failed progressive curriculum and teacher education reforms in developing countries for some 50 years Regional, Critical, and Historical Approaches Peter Antes, Armin W.
