The Urban Ecologies of Divided Cities Amira Osman, John Nagle, Sabyasachi Tripathi, 2023-06-12 The book discusses how division affect the fabric of cities and people s sense of identity and agency and are reflected in physical features architecture and urban planning The question of divided cities represents a complex and multistranded urban Ecology at once both social and spatial it cannot be limited to a single science or discipline such as social or spatial fields This suggests integrated and cross disciplinary understandings as well as integrated or parallel approaches and solutions Urban ecologies of division manifest in multiple forms One of their most palpable expressions is conflict with parallels around the world and often with correlations in the spatial fabric Violence in such contexts is often a surface expression of deeper socio economic or ideological differences Whether as a result of intervention by authority or by dissent between groups a divided city inevitably becomes a place of conflict in various forms and intensity eroding the joy of living and sense of collective belonging to the detriment of all In effect it erodes the collective advantage of being part of a more unified society A city exists in collections of social structures which mutually form a society A divided city implies divided social structures and in consequence a divided society The papers compiled in this book present many case studies of divided cities discussing the different causes of divisions and their effects on societies Some of the causes can be linked to conflicts wars colonialism or legislative political systems In response to the serious challenges resulting from these divisions the book aims to provide opportunities for new approaches and possibilities for new interventions and solutions making it significant to urban planners architects and policymakers

Aesthetics, Arts, and Politics in a Global World Daniel Herwitz, 2017-01-26 A different set of purposes define culture today than those that preoccupied the world in the immediate decades of decolonization Focusing on art and music in diverse parts of the world Daniel Herwitz explores a world that has largely shifted from the earlier days of nationalism decolonization and cultural exclusion to one of global markets and networks Using examples from India and Mexico to South Africa Australia and China Herwitz argues that the cultural politics and art being produced in these places are now post postcolonial Where the postcolonial downplayed formerly Eurocentric forms and celebrated art with national consciousness the rules for 21st century cultural authenticity are quickly disappearing Young people think of themselves in relation to global culture rather than nation building the project of producing a new and modern art for the incipient and rising postcolonial nation is out of date By examining the shift in which art accesses the past and the rise of trends such as hitching consumer culture to celebrity forms and branding Herwitz's original and engaging exploration of contemporary art captures the ways in which art has given way to a new form of production altering everything from the role of tradition and heritage in contemporary art to the terms of its vision and circulation

The Black and White Rainbow Carolyn Holmes, 2020-10-13 Nation building imperatives compel citizens to focus on what makes them similar and what binds them together forgetting what makes them different Democratic institution building on the other hand requires fostering opposition through conducting multiparty elections and encouraging debate. Leaders of democratic factions like parties or interest groups can consolidate their power by emphasizing difference. But when held in tension these two impulses toward remembering difference and forgetting it between focusing on unity and encouraging division are mutually constitutive of sustainable democracy. Based on ethnographic and interview based fieldwork conducted in 2012-13, The Black and White Rainbow: Reconciliation, Opposition and Nation Building in Democratic South Africa explores various themes of nation and democracy building including the emotional and banal content of symbols of the post-apartheid state, the ways that gender and race condition nascent nationalism, the public performance of nationalism and other group based identities, integration and sharing of space, language diversity and the role of democratic functioning including party politics and modes of opposition. Each of these thematic chapters aims to explicate a feature of the multifaceted nature of identity building and link the South African case to broader literatures on both nationalism and democracy.
