Low-Income Students, Human Development and Higher Education in South Africa Melanie Walker, Monica McLean, 2022-07-15 This book explores learning outcomes for low income rural and township youth at five South African universities The book is framed as a contribution to southern and Africa centred scholarship adapting Amartya Sen s capability approach and a framework of key concepts capabilities functionings context conversion factors poverty and agency to investigate opportunities and obstacles to achieved student outcomes This approach allows a reimagining of inclusive learning outcomes to encompass the multi dimensional value of a university education and a plurality of valued cognitive and non cognitive outcomes for students from low income backgrounds whose experiences are strongly shaped by hardship Based on capability theorising and student voices the book proposes for policy and practice a set of contextual higher education capability domains and corresponding functionings orientated to more justice and more equality for each person to have the opportunities to be and to do what they have reason to value The book concludes that sufficient material resources are necessary to get into university and flourish

while there the benefits of a university education should be rich and multi dimensional so that they can result in functionings in all areas of life as well as work and future study the inequalities and exclusion of the labour market and pathways to further study must be addressed by wider economic and social policies for inclusive learning outcomes to be meaningful and that universities ought to be doing more to enable black working class students to participate and succeed Low Income Students Human Development and Higher Education in South Africa makes an original contribution to capabilitarian scholarship conceptually in theorising a South based multi dimensional student well being higher education matrix and a rich reconceptualisation of learning outcomes as well as empirically by conducting rigorous longitudinal in depth mixed methods research on students lives and experiences in higher education in South Africa The audience for the book includes higher education researchers international capabilitarian scholars practitioners and policy makers

The Renaissance Engineer of Tomorrow European Society for Engineering Education. Conference, 2002 On the threshold of the 3rd Millennium there can be no doubt about the fact that advances progress of modern society are Technology driven There is still an ever increasing demand for Engineers at many different levels Nonetheless the skills and attitudes required of them are constantly changing given that they must match developments which take place at an ever increasing rate Hence Engineering educators and to greater extent all stake holders in the world of scientific and technological training are looking forward to the model of a more flexible inter disciplinary shaped and innovation oriented kind of Engineers perhaps an Artist Engineer Is the ideal model what we refer to as The Renaissance Engineer of Tomorrow a suitable one for the today times Does such a model exist at all and if yes does it really satisfy the needs of our society The 30th Sefi Annual Conference is a forum which is open for the development of such a discussion amongst scientists educators professionals industrialists students and all those involved and or interested in the debate Primarily its purpose is to better identify and re shape our concept of the ideal Engineer as envisaged for the future no matter how we call such model Such a concept involves the ability to manage interaction between the many different branches of scientific and technical knowledge as well as the skills associated with the adaptability and flexibility to handle tasks in a truly innovative manner coupled with the positive attitude of life long learning ethical awareness and respect in our approach to a sustainable and socially committed development etc All the above issues clearly define the profile of a graduate far beyond the limited interpretation of the Anglo Saxon word Engineer i e challenging himself to change his her perception of his her role in the design process as one moves beyond the simple act of making decisions based on codes and calculations All this requires a multi cultural education enriched through mobility during one s period of study a marked team work attitude in an international environment the acceptance of challenging competitiveness in terms of ideas and improved efficiency of both processes and products how does one go about developing all these graduate skills through a simple Engineering degree And how to solve the evident contradiction between the aspiration to educate an Artist Engineer necessarily an elitary group and the need of delivering a suitable technical education to the many young people who are requested in engineering such to allow them to work and correctly and safely produce for the society More than 120 contributions responded to SEFIrenze 2002 call for papers from 30 different countries almost all over the world Their presence highlights the interest that the evocative issue of the Renaissance Engineer of Tomorrow has drawn everyone is dreaming something figuring out his her own idea of the task and handbut perhaps no single individual can really define what it is exactly Let us therefore dream of our future Engineers as people who will work with respect and awareness of different traditions and heritage Let us envisage them as human bridges across different cultures and regions linking people all over the world by means of science and technology In this way we can draw inspiration from our glorious Roman past which teaches us that the Highest Authority the Pontiff took his privileged title from Pontifex Maximus the ancient latin Pontesfacere i e the Bridge maker Claudio Borri Agroforestry Education News ,1997 Handbook of Research on Records and Information Management Strategies for Enhanced Knowledge Coordination Chisita, Collence Takaingenhamo,Enakrire, Rexwhite Tega,Durodolu, Oluwole Olumide,Tsabedze, Vusi Wonderboy,Ngoaketsi, Joseph M.,2021-01-15 The convergence of technologies and emergence of interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary modus of knowledge production justify the need for research that explores the disinterestedness or interconnectivity of the information science disciplines The quantum leap in knowledge production increasing demand for information and knowledge changing information needs information governance and proliferation of digital technologies in the era of ubiquitous digital technologies justify research that employs a holistic approach in x raying the challenges of managing information in an increasingly knowledge and technology driven dispensation The changing nature of knowledge production for sustainable development along with trends and theory for enhanced knowledge coordination deserve focus in current times The Handbook of Research on Records and Information Management Strategies for Enhanced Knowledge Coordination draws input from experts involved in records management information science library science memory and digital technology creating a vanguard compendium of novel trends and praxis While highlighting a vast array of topics under the scope of library science information science knowledge transfer records management and more this book is ideally designed for knowledge and information managers library and information science schools policymakers practitioners stakeholders administrators researchers academicians and students interested in records and information management
