Equality in Kenya's 2010 Constitution Victoria Miyandazi, 2021-02-25 This book makes a significant contribution to the ongoing global conversations on the various understandings of equality It illuminates the many ways in which diverse equality guarantees clash or are interrelated It also sets out principled approaches on how they can be coherently interpreted to address the myriad inequalities in Kenya Taking a comparative approach the book considers how other jurisdictions including the United States United Kingdom Canada South Africa India and Botswana have approached the conceptualisation interpretation and application of various equality concepts The book focuses on important issues such as transformative constitutionalism in relation to the interpretation of Kenya's 2010 Constitution expanding the list of enumerated grounds for non discrimination affirmative action accommodating religious and cultural diversity versus gender equality the interrelation between socio economic rights and status based equality

Environmental Energy Sustainability at Universities Alberto Jesús Perea Moreno, Francisco G. Montoya, 2021-01-06 The use of renewable energies and energy saving and efficiency are needs of global society and universities Universities have a large responsibility and social impact as they are an example and engine of social change Universities in the European context must be at the forefront of ESA processes seeking to be at the same level as and preferably higher than the rest of society seeking a goal of 20% renewable energy for 2020 and in the longer term greater energy efficiency based on a diverse use of renewable energy and studying the feasibility of other energy processes cogeneration trigeneration etc The application of renewable energies and energy efficiency allow universities to make significant savings in their costs and contribute to sustainable development and the fight against climate change Actions in pursuit of these goals in addition to the objective of energy saving should promote research and form an example for the university community This book aims to advance the contribution of energy saving and the use of renewable energies in order to achieve more sustainable universities

Co-Designing Science in Africa UNESCO, 2019-06-28 African Foreign Policies Paul-Henri Bischoff, 2020-03-26 This book explores at a time when several powers have become serious players on the continent aspects of African agency past and present by African writers on foreign policy representative of geography language and state size In the past African foreign policy has largely been considered within the context of reactions to the international or global external factor This groundbreaking book however looks at how foreign policy has been crafted and used in response not just to external but also mainly domestic imperatives or theoretical signifiers As such it narrates individual and changing foreign policy orientations over time and as far back as independence with mainly African based scholars who present their own constructs of what is a useful theoretical narrative regarding foreign policy on the continent how theory is adapted to local circumstance or substituted for continentally based ontologies The book therefore contends that the African experience carries valuable import for expanding general understandings of foreign policy in general This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of Foreign Policy

Analysis Foreign Policy Studies African International Relations Politics Studies Diplomacy and more broadly to International Relations Urbanization and Slums National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Board on Global Health, Forum on Microbial Threats, 2018-06-08 The urban built environment is a prime setting for microbial transmission because just as cities serve as hubs for migration and international travel components of the urban built environment serve as hubs that drive the transmission of infectious disease pathogens The risk of infectious diseases for many people living in slums is further compounded by their poverty and their surrounding physical and social environment which is often overcrowded is prone to physical hazards and lacks adequate or secure housing and basic infrastructure including water sanitation or hygiene services To examine the role of the urban built environment in the emergence and reemergence of infectious diseases that affect human health the National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine planned a public workshop This publication summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop

Infrastructures for Peace in Sub-Saharan Africa Mediel Hove, Geoff Harris, 2019-06-14 Cultures of violence are characteristic of many countries in sub Saharan Africa and attempts to move towards cultures of peace have often proved difficult and ineffectual And yet the wide variations in levels of violence within and between countries show that it is not inevitable rather it is the result of choices made at individual community and societal levels This book examines the potential of peace infrastructures as vehicles to strengthen and spread progress towards cultures of peace Peace infrastructures vary hugely in sophistication and level The examples examined in this book range from tiny structures which help resolve conflicts between individuals and within community organisations peace committees which serve local communities peace education and peace club programmes in schools mediation mechanisms to prevent election violence and to ministries of peace to coordinate government and non government efforts in peacemaking and peacebuilding The overall finding is that the development of peace infrastructures at all levels has great potential to build cultures of peace 1 It is the only book available which documents the experience and potential of nonviolence in post independence sub Saharan Africa 2 It makes a persuasive case for the development of various peace infrastructures in order to make peace sustainable 3 It explains how strategic planning can be utilised both to bring about change and to institutionalise it International Women's Rights

Law and Gender Equality Ramona Vijeyarasa, 2021-07-22 The law is a well known tool in fighting gender inequality but which laws actually advance women s rights This book unpacks the complex nuances behind gender responsive domestic legislation from several of the world s leading experts on gender equality Drawing on domestic examples and international law it provides a primer of theory alongside tangible and practical solutions to fulfil the promise of the law to deliver equality between men and women Part I outlines what progress has been made to date on eradicating gender inequality and insights into the law s potential as one lever in the global struggle for equality Parts II and III go on to explore concrete areas of law with case studies from multiple jurisdictions that examine how well domestic legislation is working for women The authors bring their critical lens to areas of law often considered from a gender perspective gender based violence women s reproductive health labour and gender equality quotas while bringing much needed analysis to issues often ignored in gender debates such as taxation environmental justice and good governance Part IV seeks to move from a theoretical goal of greater accountability to a practical one It explores both accountability for international women s rights norms at the domestic level and the potential of feminist approaches to legislation to deliver laws that work for women Written for students academics legislators and policymakers engaged in international women s rights law gender equality government accountability and feminist legal theory this book has tremendous transformative potential to drive forward legal change towards the eradication of gender inequality

Social Protection in East Africa Harnessing the Future OECD, 2017-04-26 This strategic foresight report assesses the interaction between demographics economic development climate change and social protection in six countries in East Africa between now and 2065 Ethiopia Kenya Mozambique Tanzania Uganda and Zambia The report combines population projections Strategic Culture and Violent Non-State Actors Edward D. Last, 2020-07-12 This book applies strategic culture concepts to violent non state actors VNSAs in a comparative analysis In recent years Al Qaida in the Islamic Maghreb AQIM has become notorious for kidnapping Western hostages in north western Africa and for its role in the short lived Islamist takeover of Mali The group formerly known as the Salafist Group for Preaching and Combat rebranded itself as an Al Qaida franchise in 2007 leading to speculation of a change from its Algeria centric agenda to an anti Western one This study compares and contrasts the ideas and behaviour of these two groups using a strategic cultural approach and finds that despite some commonalities AQIM has a distinct strategic culture from Al Qaida central thereby debunking the notion of Al Qaida as a monolithic movement This is the first comparative analysis of violent non state actors to employ a strategic cultural approach and the first such study on AQIM While strategic culture has traditionally been applied to states this work adds to the emerging literature applying such approaches to non state armed groups and employs a novel conception of strategic culture consisting of narratives and practices This book will be of much interest to students of strategic culture political violence Middle Eastern politics and Security Studies in general Thus Until Emilia Ilieva, Reuben Matheka, 2025-08-04 Thus Until A History of Egerton University is a thorough historical chronological and well researched account of Egerton University from a whites only college when it started in 1939 through to the expansion it has experienced over the years culminating in being a full university More than any other university in Kenya Egerton has a long and colourful history but like all the other universities it has suffered from the political economic and financial challenges of the time especially since the double intake of the 1990s Chapter One provides the required background to the study highlighting agricultural and educational policies and steering away from the Happy Valley hype so characteristic of the period The reader will learn about the Egerton family in Chapter Two and particularly about Lord Egerton himself and the colonial circumstances within which he lived The chapter dispels some of the popularly held myths about him Chapter Three deals with the beginnings of the college and the various structural and curriculum experiments tried out and the kind of enrolment and students it experimented with as an all white establishment The chapter ends with Africans beginning to agitate for change With great attention to detail the later chapters put the university in a broader local and international context thereby increasing its relevance to society A History of Egerton University though heavily footnoted and with a detailed bibliography is written in a simple easy flowing and accessible style
