University Of Limpopo Application Forms 2013:

Mergers and Alliances in Higher Education Adrian Curaj, Luke Georghiou, Jennifer Cassingena Harper, Eva Egron-Polak, 2015-03-31 This volume casts light on mergers and alliances in higher education by examining developments of this type in different countries. It combines the direct experiences of those at the heart of such transformations: university leaders and senior officials responsible for higher education policy with expert analysts of the systems concerned. Higher education in Europe faces a series of major challenges. The economic crisis has accelerated expectations of an increased role in addressing economic and societal challenges while at the same time putting pressure on available finances. Broader trends such as shifting student demographics and expectations, globalisation and mobility and new ways of working with business have contributed to these increased pressures. In the light of these trends, there have been moves both from national or regional agencies and from individual institutions to respond by combining resources either through collaborative arrangements or more fundamentally through mergers between two or more universities. After an introductory chapter by the editors which establishes the context for mergers and alliances, the book falls into two main parts. Part 1 takes a national or regional perspective to give some sense of the historical context, the wider drivers and the importance of these developments in these cases. Included are both systemic accounts for countries as France, Sweden, Romania, Russia, Wales and England and specific cross-cutting initiatives including a major facility at Magurele in Romania and a Spanish programme for promoting international campuses of excellence. Part 2 is built from specific cases of universities either in mergers or alliances with examples from different countries such as France, UK, Romania, Spain, Germany, Denmark, Finland, Switzerland. A concluding chapter by the editors assesses these experiences and indicates the implications and future needs for understanding in this domain.

Smart Computing Applications in Crowdfunding Bo Xing, Tshilidzi Marwala, 2018-12-07 The book focuses on smart computing for crowdfunding usage, looking at the crowdfunding landscape: e.g. reward, donation, equity, P2P based and the crowdfunding ecosystem: e.g. regulator, asker, backer, investor and operator. The increased complexity of fund raising scenario driven by the broad economic environment as well as the need for using alternative funding sources has sparked research in smart computing techniques. Covering a wide range of detailed topics, the authors of this book offer an outstanding overview of the current state of the art, providing deep insights into smart computing methods, tools and their applications in crowdfunding, exploring the importance of smart analysis, prediction and decision making within the fintech industry. This book is intended to be an authoritative and valuable resource for professional practitioners and researchers alike as well as finance engineering and computer science students who are interested in crowdfunding and other emerging fintech topics.

Shadow Libraries Joe Karaganis, 2018-05-04 How students get the materials they need as opportunities for higher education expand but funding shrinks. From the top down, Shadow Libraries explores the institutions that shape the provision of educational materials from the formal sector of universities and publishers to the broadly informal ones.

organized by faculty copy shops student unions and students themselves It looks at the history of policy battles over access to education in the post World War II era and at the narrower versions that have played out in relation to research and textbooks from library policies to book subsidies to more recently the several open publication models that have emerged in the higher education sector From the bottom up Shadow Libraries explores how simply students get the materials they need It maps the ubiquitous practice of photocopying and what are in many cases the more marginal ones of buying books visiting libraries and downloading from unauthorized sources It looks at the informal networks that emerge in many contexts to share materials from face to face student networks to Facebook groups and at the processes that lead to the consolidation of some of those efforts into more organized archives that circulate offline and sometimes online the shadow libraries of the title If Alexandra Elbakyan's Sci Hub is the largest of these efforts to date the more characteristic part of her story is the prologue the personal struggle to participate in global scientific and educational communities and the recourse to a wide array of ad hoc strategies and networks when formal authorized means are lacking If Elbakyan's story has struck a chord it is in part because it brings this contradiction in the academic project into sharp relief universalist in principle and unequal in practice Shadow Libraries is a study of that tension in the digital era Contributors Balázs Bod Laura Czerniewicz Mirosław Filiciak Mariana Fossatti Jorge Gemetto Eve Gray Evelin Heidel Joe Karaganis Lawrence Liang Pedro Mizukami Jhessica Reia Alek Tarkowski The Cambridge Handbook of Foreign Judges on Domestic Courts Anna Dziejczak, Simon N. M.

Young, 2023-11-09 Foreign judges sit on domestic courts in over fifty jurisdictions worldwide They serve on ordinary courts including apex and constitutional courts as well as specialist courts such as international commercial courts and hybrid criminal tribunals This Handbook presents the first global comparative study of this long standing diverse and evolving practice from colonial precedents to new forms of foreign judging in contemporary conditions of globalisation Chapters by scholars of law politics and history and reflections by judges themselves provide detailed information and critical analysis of foreign judging across Africa Asia the Caribbean Europe the Middle East and the Pacific The chapters examine the notion and relevance of foreignness rationales for foreign judges and the implications for judicial identity adjudication independence and accountability Focusing on an underexplored issue that features mainly in small states and jurisdictions of the Global South this Handbook challenges assumptions and expands knowledge about courts and judges Minorities, Scarcity and Conflict Antonio Montañés Jiménez, Camila Ferreira Marinelli, Stavroula Pipyrrou, 2025-07-17 This volume places scarcity as a defining aspect of minorities experience and as a tool to comprehend ongoing and unresolved societal friction and global environmental challenges strategies for survival and reproduction of the status quo and aspirational desires for social mobility The book is an experimental collective intellectual project departing from conventional approaches to scarcity solely as a resource based economic or demographic concept Boldly the book looks at the ways in which disadvantaged social groups navigate their lives through scarcity and how these circumstances are endured interpreted accepted or challenged In a thought provoking turn the book makes a novel contribution to minority studies by engaging with scarcity not only concerning resources but also emotion memory and affect In analysing scarcity as a multidimensional analytical framework and interrogating it from manifold angles the book unpacks uncharted ramifications of debates around scarcity and opens new lines of enquiry The collection will be a valuable resource for academics researchers and policymakers working in the areas of law political anthropology and sociology Making Education Inclusive Sharon Moonsamy,Elizabeth

Walton,2015-09-18 Exclusionary pressures and practices are pervasive in education despite the clamour for more inclusive education Even as classrooms worldwide become more diverse education is unlikely to become inclusive without deliberate efforts to dismantle exclusion and enable inclusion This book is a compilation of contributions to the conversation about what these efforts might entail The conversation has its origins in the Making Education Inclusive Conference held in 2013 which brought together academics and practitioners from Southern Africa and other countries Given the expectation that teachers should play a key role in promoting inclusion it is not surprising to find significant interest in teacher education from many of the contributing authors Their concerns range from explicit teacher development for pedagogical responsiveness to learner diversity to overcoming the epistemological marginalisation that learners experience where teachers are not fully confident of their subject content and how to teach it Access to education is clearly not enough and other contributors to this book concern themselves with ways in which structures and systems could be reconstituted to enable meaningful inclusion This might mean looking at how teachers might use tiered systems of behaviour support and various metacognitive strategies how physical access can be promoted on a university campus and understanding how parents think about disability Each chapter represents a different perspective on what it might mean to resist educational exclusion in its many forms and each offers possible ways to make education more inclusive Routledge Handbook of Food Waste Christian Reynolds,Tammara

Responsibility in Sub-Saharan Africa Stephen Vertigans, Samuel O. Idowu, René Schmidpeter, 2015-12-21 This book provides a comprehensive overview of corporate social responsibility and its development in Africa. It provides in-depth studies on 11 sub-Saharan countries demonstrating that corporate social responsibility is forming and going through different stages of metamorphosis in the continent. Though corporate and individual attitudes towards sustainability in Africa still leave a lot to be desired, this book showcases how things are rapidly changing for the better in this regard. It demonstrates and provides evidence for the fact that corporate social responsibility contributes significantly to the way sub-Saharan African economies are being transformed with service sectors expanding, commercial activities diversifying, and industrial bases growing through the initiatives of small, medium, and large organizations and innovators supported by widespread higher education program rollouts. The book highlights how progressive and wide-ranging CSR approaches have emerged and how much they differ from the obsolete approaches of the past which promulgated negative stereotypes, marginalized communities, and positioned them as victims or beneficiaries of development. New South African Review 6 Devan Pillay, Gilbert M Khadiagala, Roger Southall, Sarah Mosoetsa, Samuel Kariuki, 2018-01-29 Wide-ranging essays demonstrate how the consequences of inequality extend throughout society and the political economy. Despite the transition from apartheid to democracy, South Africa is the most unequal country in the world. Its extremes of wealth and poverty undermine intensifying struggles for a better life for all. The wide-ranging essays in this sixth volume of the New South African Review demonstrate how the consequences of inequality extend throughout society and the political economy, crippling the quest for social justice, polarising the politics, skewing economic outcomes, and bringing devastating environmental consequences in their wake. Contributors survey the extent and consequences of inequality across fields as diverse as education, disability, agrarian reform, nuclear geography, and small towns, and tackle some of the most difficult social, political, and economic issues. How has the quest for greater equality affected progressive political discourse? How has inequality reproduced itself despite best intentions in social policy to the detriment of the poor and the historically disadvantaged? How have shifts in mining and the financialisation of the economy reshaped the contours of inequality? How does inequality reach into the daily social life of South Africans and shape the way in which they interact? How does the extent and shape of inequality in South Africa compare with that of other major countries of the global South which themselves are notorious for their extremes of wealth and poverty? South African extremes of inequality reflect increasing inequality globally, and The Crisis of Inequality will speak to all those general readers, policy makers, researchers, and students who are demanding a more equal world. Decolonising Digital Media and Indigenisation of Participatory Epistemologies Fulufhelo Oscar Makananise, Shumani Eric Madima, 2024-08-13 The book provides valuable insights on decolonising the digital media landscape and the indigenisation of participatory epistemologies to continue the legacies of indigenous languages in the global South. It is one of its kind as it climaxes that the construction phase of self-determining and redefining among the global South societies is an essential step.

towards decolonising the digital landscape and ensuring that indigenous voices and worldviews are equally infused represented and privileged in the process of higher level communication exchanging epistemic philosophies and knowledge expressions The book employs an interdisciplinary approach to engage in the use of digital media as a sphere for resistance and knowledge transformation against the persistent colonialism of power through dominant non indigenous languages and scientific epistemic systems It further advocates that decolonising digital media spaces through appreciating participatory epistemologies and their languages can help promote the inclusion and empowerment of indigenous communities It indicates that the decolonial process can also help to redress the historical and ongoing injustices that have disadvantaged many indigenous communities in the global South and contributed to their marginalisation This book will appeal to undergraduate and graduate students scholars and academics in communication media studies languages linguistics cultural studies and indigenous knowledge systems in higher education institutions It will be a valuable resource for those interested in epistemologies of the South decoloniality postcoloniality indigenisation participatory knowledge indigenous language legacies indigenous artificial intelligence and digital media in the Fourth Industrial Revolution Psychology of Career Adaptability, Employability and Resilience Kobus Maree, 2017-12-05 This book examines how the career counselling profession should respond to the changes in the world of work that have resulted from the increasing need to communicate faster and disseminate information more efficiently It emphasizes the twin aims of enhancing a persons career adaptability and helping them to become more employable rather than linearly trying to find a job and remaining in one organisation for their entire career lives The book shows that to achieve these aims people need to acquire career resilience especially since the world of work no longer provides workers with work holding environments for the duration of their career lives It takes into account historical analyses which show that whenever major technological change has occurred and widespread job losses have ensued people have managed to use the new technology to create new employment opportunities Readers from career psychology and management research vocational and professional career coaching and students of career psychology will find this book delivers sound updated theory demonstrating how perceived threats in the 21st century can conceivably be turned into opportunities Water is Life Hellum, Anne, Kameri-Mbote, Patricia, 2015-10-19 This book approached water and sanitation as an African gender and human rights issue Empirical case studies from Kenya Malawi South Africa and Zimbabwe show how coexisting international national and local regulations of water and sanitation respond to the ways in which different groups of rural and urban women gain access to water for personal domestic and livelihood purposes The authors who are lawyers sociologists political scientists and anthropologists explore how women cope in contexts where they lack secure rights and participation in water governance institutions formal and informal The research shows how women as producers of family food rely on water from multiple sources that are governed by community based norms and institutions which recognise the right to water for livelihood How these common pool water resources due to protection gaps in both international and national law are threatened by large scale development and commercialisation initiatives facilitated through national permit systems is a key concern The studies demonstrate that existing water governance structures lack mechanisms which make them accountable to poor and vulnerable water users on the ground most importantly women The findings thus underscore the need to intensify measures to hold states accountable not just in water services provision but in assuring the basic human right to clean drinking water and sanitation and also to protect water for livelihoods The Politics of Custom John L. Comaroff, Jean Comaroff, 2018-03-08 How are we to explain the resurgence of customary chiefs in contemporary Africa Rather than disappearing with the tide of modernity as many expected indigenous sovereigns are instead a rising force often wielding substantial power and legitimacy despite major changes in the workings of the global political economy in the post Cold War era changes in which they are themselves deeply implicated This pathbreaking volume edited by anthropologists John L Comaroff and Jean Comaroff explores the reasons behind the increasingly assertive politics of custom in many corners of Africa Chiefs come in countless guises from university professors through cosmopolitan businessmen to subsistence farmers but whatever else they do they are a critical key to understanding the tenacious hold that traditional authority enjoys in the late modern world Together the contributors explore this counterintuitive chapter in Africa s history and in so doing place it within the broader world making processes of the twenty first century Banana Nutrition Afam I.
