Aigbavboa, Wellington Thwala, Joseph N. Mojekwu, Lawrence Atepor, Emmanuel Adinyira, Gabriel Nani, Emmanuel Bamfo-Agyei, 2025-02-07 This book is Volume 1 of the proceedings of 2023 Sustainable Education and Development Research Conference This volume concentrates on papers in the area of clean energy Despite considerable progress more than 700 million people worldwide still lack access to electricity and around 2.4 billion people continue to use harmful and polluting fuels for cooking While efforts have been made to promote renewable energy and energy efficiency they have not been fast enough to achieve Sustainable Development Goal 7 Adding to the challenge the ongoing war in Ukraine has contributed to rising global energy prices and heightened energy insecurity in Europe In response to the energy crisis some European countries are planning to accelerate the transition to renewables and increase investments in clean energy and energy efficiency However others are considering a resurgence of coal which poses a risk to the overall green transition Between 2010 and 2020 the percentage of the global population with access to electricity increased from 83% to 91% with 1.3 billion people gaining access Nevertheless this leaves approximately 733 million people still without electricity and most of them reside in sub Saharan Africa Achieving universal access by 2030 the annual growth rate in access needs to accelerate from 0.5 percentage points to 0.9 percentage points necessitating significant efforts in low income fragile and conflict affected countries In 2020 69% of the global population had access to clean cooking fuels and technologies While more than half of those without access to clean cooking fuels live in Asia the 20 countries with the lowest percentage of people having access to clean cooking were predominantly least developed countries in Africa The share of renewable sources in total final energy consumption reached 17.7% globally in 2019 just slightly higher than the figure for 2015 The electricity sector leads in the adoption of renewables accounting for 26.2% of total final energy consumption in 2019 while the heat and transport sectors have made limited progress Global primary energy intensity defined as global total energy supply per unit of GDP improved from 5.6 megajoules per dollar 2017 purchasing power parity in 2010 to 4.7 megajoules in 2019 However the rate of improvement 1.6% per year on average since 2015 falls short of the 3.2% annual rate needed to reach Sustainable Development Goal 7.3 International financial flows to support clean and renewable energy in developing countries reached 10.9 billion in 2019 a 23.6% decrease from 2018 This decline occurred even before the onset of the COVID 19 pandemic Over a longer five year moving average average annual commitments decreased for the first time since 2008 from 17.5 billion in 2014 to 16.6 billion in 2019 Although developing countries achieved a record of 245.7 watts per capita in installed renewable energy generating capacity in 2020 small island developing States least developed countries and landlocked developing countries have lagged behind It would take least developed countries and landlocked developing countries nearly 40 years and small island developing States almost 15 years to reach the same level of progress as the average developing country in 2020 The 2023 SEDRC conference titled Sustainable Development and Education aims to redefine the understanding of research in the continent's development and the role of researchers The conference focusses on applied

Budwey, 2022-08-25 This book considers the situation of intersex people who have faced erasure in the areas of science law culture and theology due to the assumption that all humans are either female or male Centered in interviews conducted with German intersex Christians this book argues that moving from a paradigm of sexual dimorphism to sexual polymorphism will help promote the full humanity and flourishing of intersex people by creating a world where intersex individuals are no longer coerced and or forced to undergo non consensual medically unnecessary treatment no longer experience human rights violations because of their lack of legal protection no longer feel inhuman and Other due to epistemic injustice that stems from socio cultural norms and stereotypes are no longer told they are not made in God's image as a result of a sexually dimorphic understanding of Genesis 1:27 and no longer feel excluded and invisible in worship services that do not recognize them This combination of the practical and the spiritual allows for a reconsideration of the medical treatment and pastoral care that should be available to intersex people This book will be helpful to those in the disciplines of science law culture and theology particularly those in gender and theological studies and those already in and studying for lay and ordained ministry Rights-based Litigation, Urban Governance and Social Justice in South Africa Marius Pieterse, 2017-09-08 Rights based Litigation Urban Governance and Social Justice in South Africa considers the overlap between legal and everyday struggles for social and spatial justice in the particular context of Johannesburg South Africa Drawing from literature across disciplines of law urban geography and urban planning as well as from reported case law concerning the invocation of constitutional rights in Johannesburg and other South African cities the book critically examines whether and to what extent the invocation of legal rights before South African courts have contributed to the advancement of social justice in the city It considers the impact of the legal assertion of different constituent aspects of the so called right to the city on the many people simultaneously performing the right the governance structures responsible for enabling and facilitating its enjoyment and thirdly the physical place in which it is performed Drawing broad conclusions on the utility of rights based litigation for the achievement of social change and spatial justice this book will be of interest to students and scholars of South Africa constitutional law human rights law regulatory law sociology of rights studies of law and society urban studies urban geography governance studies and development studies Cyanobacteria and

Reconnecting Mankind to the Biosphere in an Era of Global Change Olivier Barrière, Mohamed Behnassi, Gilbert David, Vincent Douzal, Mireille Fargette, Thérèse Libourel, Maud Loireau, Laurence Pascal, Catherine Prost, Voyner Ravena-Cañete, Frédérique Seyler, Serge Morand, 2019-03-12 This book considers the principle of sustainable development which is currently facing a growing environmental crisis A new mode of thinking and positioning the ecological imperative is the major input of this volume The prism of co viability is not the economics of political agencies that carry the ideology of the dominant conventional economic schools but rather an opening of innovation perspectives through science This volume through its four parts more than 40 chapters and a hundred authors gives birth to a paradigm which crystallizes within a concept that will support in overcoming the ecological emergency deadlock Enhancing Food Production System

Resilience for Food Security Facing a Changing Environment Liming Ye, Ping Zhu, 2023-11-28 As the dominant source of the human food supply the global land system underlies the foundation of the livelihood and wellbeing of humanity on Earth On the one hand the growth rate in the land system s productive capacity of food has played a key role in global food provision Technological breakthroughs in wheat and rice production during the past few decades for instance have greatly contributed to the maintenance of this growth rate in many parts of the world On the other hand however the terrestrial food production system is facing increasing challenges from environmental stressors ranging from climate change air pollution to land degradation Whether and how the global land system will support the food security of more than 10 billion people in the 21st century while minimizing its environmental footprint remains an open question to debate It is inevitable that the global food production system has to be shifted from focusing on production expansion to land system resilience so that the dual goals of sustainable production and environmental friendliness can be simultaneously achieved Global Jurisprudential

Apartheid in the Twenty-First Century Howard Tafara Chitimira, Artwell Nhemachena, Tapiwa Victor

Warikandwa, 2021-09-27 In Global Jurisprudential Apartheid in the Twenty First Century Universalism and Particularism in International Law the contributors argue that the world is witnessing the formation of a global jurisprudential apartheid despite the promotion of democracy equality human rights and humanitarianism Examining organisations such as international criminal courts the World Trade Organisation the United Nations Security Council the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank the contributors unpack the challenges of global jurisprudential apartheid In particular they analyse the ways in which these organizations hold and contribute to the increasing inequalities between the Global North and the Global South Ultimately Global Jurisprudential Apartheid in the Twenty First Century shows that globalisation is a variant of the apartheid era particularism and not universalism working to advantage the Global North while disadvantaging the Global South under the pretense of humanitarianism Charcoal, Food, and Water Production in the Tropics:

Applying Nexus Thinking to Improve Research and Policy Approaches in Complex Landscapes Tuyeni Heita

Mwampamba, Adrian Ghilardi, Rob Bailis, 2020-02-04 Editorial Tuyeni H Mwampamba Rob Bailis Adrian Ghilardi Urbanization food and water consumption trends in many tropical countries show that demand for charcoal as a source of cooking energy meat grain and water will rise to proportions that surpass the ability of existing ecosystems to supply these services simultaneously and at desired qualities Consequently drastic changes to policy and practice are needed to improve ecosystem potential and or alter demand trends Traditional charcoal production in sub Saharan Africa South East Asia and Latin America often competes or co exists with livestock keeping and agriculture and has a tendency to occur in water limited woodlands The co occurrence of charcoal and food production results in complex landscapes characterized by strong interactions between subsystems managed by multiple sets of actors with potentially competing objectives These social ecological systems provide goods and services that are essential to millions of people throughout the global south Nevertheless there have been very few detailed studies of such systems particularly on the individual and combined effects of charcoal crop and livestock production on the hydrological system that maintains them and vice versa As a result these multi use landscapes are typically managed by short sighted highly generalized mono sectorial policies that ignore important tradeoffs and undercapitalize on synergies A system level approach could provide important insights that improve and expand current understanding of this energy food water nexus Tackling urgent and complex problems composed of multiple and interrelated factors lies at the heart of nexus thinking an approach that examines the inter relatedness and interdependencies of environmental resources and their transitions and fluxes across spatial scales and between compartments UNU FLORES 2015 and relies on interdisciplinary research and multi sector policy teams It has attracted significant interest from international organizations the private sector and governments as a way to develop integrated equitable solutions that involve inputs from multiple stakeholders However this approach is notably absent in the research arena Identifying appropriate interventions for achieving sustainable charcoal and food production and maintaining the underlying hydrological system on which they depend requires that the systems are considered simultaneously and that their biophysical social and political inter relations are well understood Taking charcoal as the nexus entry point this Research Topic aims to generate new understanding of charcoal production systems by incorporating agriculture and hydrology into the matrix We were interested in empirical articles reviews meta analytical articles and perspective papers that address at least two of the three nexus components and which offer provocative and insightful perspectives into the nexus as a whole We hope that this Research Topic will 1 facilitate identification of research gaps policy opportunities and priorities for the nexus 2 kick start the development of a community of researchers and practitioners working on the nexus and 3 permit the development of a research agenda that explores the nexus globally across multiple study sites
