However, this was not accompanied by structural transformation; poverty, food insecurity, unemployment, and inequality persist. Structural transformation has not been and indeed cannot be delivered by market forces and neo-liberal economic policies; it requires a state committed to development and to achieving it in a democratic way. To what extent do the countries of Southern Africa exhibit the characteristics of such a developmental state? What steps, if any, do they need to take in order to become one? The book answers the questions with respect to South Africa, Botswana, Namibia, Zimbabwe, Angola, and Malawi. Godfrey Kanyenze and his colleagues have assembled a distinguished team of writers to take the temperature of the regional political economy and chart a path for its future development
