and the humanities since the 1960s Today it imposes its urgency This collapse differs from past civilizations in that it is neither local nor just civilizational It is global and occurs at the broadest level of the biosphere accelerated by the convergence of different socio environmental crises such as Earth energy imbalance climate change and global warming Sea level rise Decrease and degradation of forests Collapse of terrestrial and aquatic biodiversity Floods droughts wildfires and extreme weather events Degradation of soils and water resources Increase in pollution caused by fossil fuels and coal Increase in waste production and industrial intoxication The book is divided in two parts In the first part it presents a comprehensive review of scientific data to show the already visible effects of each of the different environmental crises and its consequences to human life on Earth In the second part Luiz Marques critically discusses what he calls the three concentric illusions that prevent us from realizing the gravity of the current socio environmental crises the illusion of a sustainable capitalism the illusion that economic growth is still capable of providing more well being and the anthropocentric illusion Finally Marques argues that fitting back into the biosphere will only be possible if we dismantle the expansive socioeconomic gear that has shaped our societies since the 16th century by moving from a Social Contract to a Natural Contract which takes into account the whole biosphere According to him the future society will be post capitalist or it will not be a complex society and even perhaps we must fear no society at all This book is backed up with the latest and best science and has made the complexities understandable for the average reader all in a context of hope for the future William J Ripple PhD Distinguished Professor of Ecology Director of the Alliance of World Scientists Oregon State University
