

4.1.1 Cell structure, Prokaryotic cells

Studying cells, Microscopy
Light microscopes use light and lenses to magnify. Individual cells can be seen, as well as large organelles e.g. Nucleus.
Electron microscopes (transmission, scanning) use electrons, have a higher magnification and higher resolution.
Magnification calculation

$$\text{Magnification} = \frac{\text{Image size}}{\text{Actual size}}$$
 10 μm with a 100x magnification = 1000 μm or 1 mm = 1 cm

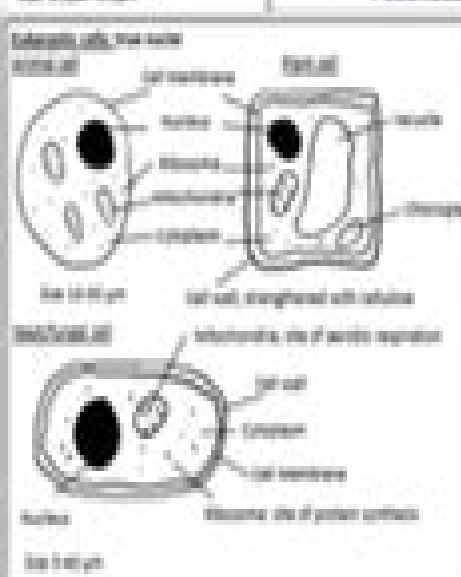

Diffusion Resulting from the ability to distinguish between two points which are close together (concentrations)
Diffusion Magnification increasing the size of an object
Viewing a specimen use a slide to provide contrast
Staining a specimen (Simple stain), both of the same, for contrasting or clearing, all from different contributions, include magnification
 Size (μm) (on x1000, 1000 μm, 1000 μm, 1000 μm, 1000 μm)
Cell differentiation Cells specialise at an early stage of embryo development, by turning genes off and on.
 Cells which are not specialised are called stem cells and they are found in early stage embryos and some fully developed organs

4.1.2 Cell division

 The nucleus contains genetic information as chromosomes. Chromosomes are called lengths of DNA. Each chromosome carries a large number of genes. Each cell has 2 copies of each chromosome. During cell division all genetic information needs to be copied, as the cells go through the cell cycle.

The cell cycle, formation of new cells for growth and repair. Produces identical daughter cells with the same number of chromosomes. There are 3 stages: Growth and replication of organelles, Mitosis and cell division.

Specialised cells Biology Trilogy paper 1 Higher page 1

Cells	Name	Function	Adaptation
	Sperm cell	Fertilise the egg	Half the genetic info, lots of mitochondria to release energy
	Neuron	Carry electrical impulses	Long strand of cytoplasm, branched to connect to other neurones
	Root hair cell (remember this is a plant cell)	Take up water and mineral ions (Osmosis, diffusion and active transport)	Large surface area
	Muscle cell	Contract	Contains lots of mitochondria to release energy
	Xylem	Transport water and minerals up the plant	Dead, hollow tube, transpiration stream
	Phloem	Transport sugars around the plant	Long, living tubes joined end to end, translocation

4.2.1 Transport in and out of cells
 Three methods of transport
Diffusion substances move from an area of high concentration to an area of low concentration. It is random and passive (does not require energy).
 Occurs in the single layers moving from the lungs to the blood and carbon dioxide moving from the blood to the lungs, and in the membrane of animal tissue moving from the blood.
Osmosis occurs in plants. Water moves from a region of high water concentration to a region of low water concentration, across a partially permeable membrane until equilibrium is reached.
Active transport The movement of a substance against a concentration gradient, from high to low. Requires energy and a carrier protein.

Features of a good exchange surface
 - Good blood supply
 - Short diffusion pathways (cells close together)
 - Large surface area to volume ratio
 - Thin barrier (e.g. one cell thick)
 - Moist
Examples of exchange surfaces
 Lungs - fish gills
 Small intestine (for increased by villi and microvilli) - leaf

Leaf tissues and organs
Stem cells in plants found just below the tip of the shoot and roots. Undifferentiated cells which can become any type of cell.
Stem cells in animals found in embryos and a very early stage. Can become any type of cell. Adult stem cells found in most tissues. Can only differentiate into a few different types of cell.
Uses of stem cells and problems
 - Cure diseases, treat paralysis, mend broken bones, regenerate heart tissue, replace damaged organs.
 - Problems: Ethical potential human life, companies making with stem cells have to follow strict rules.

4.2.2 Leaf organisation
 Cells have building blocks. Specialise to give a particular function. Muscle cells contract and generate force.
Tissue group of similar cells working together. Muscle tissue.
Organ different tissues working together. Muscular tissue moves to contract the stomach.
Organ system group of organs working together to perform a complex function. Digestive system.

Lower epidermis contains guard cells. Guard cells control the opening and closing of the stomata. The stomata are holes which control the movement of gases into and out of the leaf.
