

CCR is a factual record of your business entity's credit payment history, compiled from information received from various Credit Institutions. The purpose is to help Credit Institutions make informed lending decisions – quickly and objectively, and may enable faster processing of your credit applications to help provide you speedier access to credit.

This section contains the Report Order Number—a unique number generated every time your company's report is accessed from CIBC's database.

This section contains identification details as reported by lenders. It has the Company's Name, Short Name, Class of Activity, D-U-N-SSM Number (a unique number assigned to each business entity) and other details such as telephone number and address.

This section of the CDR provides a snapshot of the Borrowing business entity's credit report for quick reference. It has details such as number of credit institutions who have granted loans, number of credit facilities availed, etc. For more information on what each category means, refer to the glossary section at the end of the Sample Report.

This section of the CCR provides a snapshot on the type of loans needed by the borrowing business entity and the total Enquiries made in the last 24 months by various credit institutions. For a more detailed explanation of each credit type, refer to the glossary section at the end of the Sample Report.
