Here, Boy

An excerpt from Because of Winn-Dixie

by Kate DiCamillo

In Because of Winn-Dixie, Opal DuPré has just relocated with her father, who is a preacher, to a small town in Florida. In the following passage from chapter 1, Opal goes to the supermarket to buy macaroni and cheese, but she returns home with much more. From that day on, her life begins to change in important ways as she learns about the value of friendship and community, compassion and forgiveness.

1 At first, I didn't see a dog. There were just a lot of vegetables rolling around on the floor, tomatoes and onions and green peppers. And there was what seemed like a whole army of Winn-Dixie employees running around waving their arms just the same way the store manager was waving his.

2 And then the dog came running around the corner. He was a big dog. And ugly. And he looked like he was having a real good time. His tongue was hanging out and he was wagging his tail. He skidded to a stop and smiled right at me. I had never before in my life seen a dog smile, but that is what he did. He pulled back his lips and showed me all his teeth. Then he wagged his tail so hard that he knocked some oranges off a display, and they went rolling everywhere, mixing in with the tomatoes and onions and green
